FRANCE MAKES PAUL DOUMER ITS PRESIDENT

Briand Fails By Forty-one Votes To Win Presidency

Veteran Statesman Withdraws From Contest in France After National Assembly Gives Doumer, President of Senate, 442 Votes to His 401 on First Ballot; Doumer on Second Ballot Gets 504 to 334 Votes for Senator Pierre Marraud

Canadian Press
Versailles, May 13.—Paul Doumer, seventy-four-year-old President of the Senate, this evening was elected Thirteenth President of the French Republic.

Victory came on the second ballot after Aristide Briand, Foreign Minister, who had trailed M. Doumer on the first ballot, had withdrawn his candidacy.

The official count gave Doumer 504 votes to 334 for Senator Pierre Marraud, who had the backing of the Socialists.

As the National Assembly, composed of the Chamber of Deputies and Senate, began taking the second ballot, the veteran Briand, whose record includes eleven terms as Premier of France, threw his support to Marraud.

HENNESSY WITHDREW
Jean Hennessy, former Minister of Agriculture, who had polled fourteen votes on the first ballot, withdrew his candidacy in favor of M. Doumer before the second ballot began.

Official figures on the first ballot gave Doumer 442, Aristide Briand 401, and Jean Hennessy, fourteen, with forty scattered votes.

TO LEAGUE COUNCIL, SESSION
Briand's defeat was interpreted as a blow to his prestige and in the lobby there was discussion as to who would replace him as Foreign Minister. Briand had told the cabinet in conference, however, that he would go to Geneva to-morrow as he had planned for he did not consider the presidential vote had any effect on French foreign policy.

DISGUSTED FIGURE
Paul Doumer, who narrowly missed election to the presidency in 1920, is a dignified, somewhat austere, and seldom loquacious, usually austere after the manner of Raymond Poincaré, with a vein of sympathy and understanding.

In several ways his career is similar to that of President Doumergue, whom he succeeded. Both served the government in Indo-China, both were President of the Senate, even their names are alike.

He began his career as a newspaperman, soon switching to politics.

WAR SACRIFICES
The father of eight children, four of his sons were killed during the Great War. The French never forget that.

Despite his years, he is straight and erect and although small in stature, he is an arresting figure.

He speaks meticulously, in a thin voice, somewhat toneless, and unlike M. Briand, he is formal in his friendships and his contacts with others.

He is known as a student, particularly of finance.

Paul Doumer was born at Aurillac, Cantal, south central France, March 22, 1857. He was educated in Paris and married in 1879. There are two daughters and one son living.

His public career began in 1887, when he became deputy mayor of Lezay, in the Alsace department. He held that post for a year, then he struck it out, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, thus entering the wider field of national politics.

MINISTER IN 1895-96
It was in 1895 he achieved cabinet rank, serving in that year and 1896 as Minister of Finance.

M.P.'S APPROVE REBUILDING OF VANCOUVER BRIDGE SPAN

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 13.—The necessity for giving parliamentary authority to the municipalities in and around Vancouver, operating as the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company, to reconstruct the span of the bridge over the Second Narrows, which was destroyed by a steamship struck it, was urged by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, on the Commons committee on railways and canals this forenoon.

TO ELIMINATE LIABILITY
The matter of restoring the span has been complicated by a judgment of the Privy Council in London which found, as a result of litigation, the original owner of the bridge, the Burrard Inlet Tunnel and Bridge Company, liable for damages in view of the fact that the bridge was a bridge, not a railway.

The bill then received the committee's approval.

APPROVED BY COMMITTEE
After some discussion, a new clause was added to the bill safeguarding the rights of the present bridge in connection with the new bridge.

The bill then received the committee's approval.

BRITISH FIRMS ASK PRICES ON CANNED LOGANS

New Market For Thousands of Cases May Develop From Samples Supplied

Berry Growers Ask Dump Duty on May 20 and Twelve Cent Valuation

Several thousand cases of Saanich loganberries, preserved in syrup, may be sold to British firms this season, as a result of submission of samples earlier this year by the markets branch of the Department of Agriculture.

W. W. Duncan, director of agriculture, this morning announced reception from London of cables instructing to submit further samples to two leading British importing houses, together with prices.

While the market offered is distinctly of a low-price character, the extent of the order makes the opening of distinct value to British berry growers, in the opinion of Mr. Duncan.

The new development is of particular interest in view of the concern regarding outlets for the current crop, which were aired at fruitgrowers' meetings held on Monday evening at Gordon Head and yesterday evening at Keating, N. H. Lamont informed the latter meeting that the Growers' Wine Company would this year be taking a smaller tonnage, the reduction being ascribed to the winery having attained a reserve sufficient to assure that all wine marketed will hereafter be at least three years old. No reduction in the price of eight cents per pound would be made by the company, Mr. Lamont explained.

IGNORED WARNINGS
The reduced demands of the winery were regarded as creating a serious problem, as farmers for some years have ignored urgent warnings by officers of the Saanich and Gordon Head Fruitgrowers' Associations and have

LITTLE HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF OFFICIAL

Weakness of Condition Regarded as Serious in Illness of E. D. Johnson

Wife Leaves For Bedside of Deputy Finance Minister at Prince Rupert

Doubts were expressed this morning at the Parliament Buildings as to the recovery of E. D. Johnson, Deputy Minister of Finance, on the receipt of serious news from Prince Rupert, where he is lying ill with a severe attack of pneumonia. Mrs. Johnson left Victoria yesterday to be with her husband in Prince Rupert.

The illness is complicated by a long-standing disorder, and Mr. Johnson has not enjoyed that health in the last year which would enable him to last the serious illness.

RUSHED TO HOSPITAL
Mr. Johnson was returning from a conference of the Canadian Gasoline Tax Association at Winnipeg, when he was taken ill. He was taken off the train by a physician's advice and rushed to hospital at Prince Rupert.

Dr. E. J. Lyon, who is attending him, called in Dr. C. E. Ewart in consultation. But slight hope of recovery was reported yesterday evening and a wireless received at the Parliament Buildings this morning said there was no change in his condition.

Many friends of Mr. Johnson in Victoria to-day were deeply concerned over his illness. Mr. Johnson is highly respected here and has been regarded as one of the leading authorities of the province on financial matters since he joined the department twelve years ago. His association with British Columbia Governmental matters has extended over an even greater period, as he was formerly city treasurer at Prince Rupert and prior to that time was with the accounting department of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

He was born in Cheltenham, England, and came to Canada in the early nineteen hundreds.

TO RENOVATE TEMPLE HALL FOR SERVICES

Plans to renovate Temple Hall on North Park Street for accommodation of the City Temple congregation at Sunday services were announced to-day by the board of management, following approval of arrangements for the work.

When the congregation moves into the new hall, it will make the conclusion of seven years of services in the Royal Victoria Theatre. The changes will make it possible to seat about 1,000 people in the place. The three main halls on the lower floor, as well as the second story rooms, will be eliminated, converting the whole into one vast hall.

Dr. Clem Davies, who was one of the leading spirits in building up the large City Temple congregation, will remain with the church, the board having reached an agreement under which his ministry will be continued.

A City Temple Forward Movement, which was organized by the church with a donation of $1,000 by one subscriber, giving confidence to the committee in their work of reconstructing the church.

For several years, the weekday activities of the City Temple have been carried on in Temple Hall with the Sunday meetings at the theatre. Under the new arrangement all activities will be centralized under one roof.

STREET FIGHTS IN CORDOVA, SPAIN

The seventh annual session of the British Columbia Conference of the United Church of Canada transacted much routine business to-day in preparation for the formal opening session to be held this evening at First United Church, where all the proceedings are being conducted.

Over 300 delegates arrived from all parts of the province during the day, registration and billeting being in progress from shortly after 8 o'clock, the arrangements being handled swiftly by W. H. Harrison, Frank Calvert and D. M. McIvor, the local committee.

Presidential meetings commenced at the morning, the delegates from the seven districts completing their preliminary business for presentation to the conference later in the session. This afternoon there were separate meetings of the lay and ministerial delegates to the conference.

The formal opening will be open to the public and will be marked by an address by Rev. O. M. Sanford, president of the conference, the executive of the conference, followed by a civic welcome by Mayor Anson.

ELECTIONS TO-MORROW
The proceedings to-morrow will open with a devotional period led by Rev. C. S. Quinlan, Dean of Columbia, who will also lead similar periods on Friday, Saturday and Monday mornings.

The annual election of officers will be the first business of the session, and will be followed by the presentation of reports from the various districts.

Reports which were without confirmation said communists had organized the demonstration and had planned to raid the bank while the main body of the crowd engaged the police.

IMPORANT REPORT
During the counting of the ballots Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., will report on the proceedings of the first meeting of the executive of the general committee, which was held recently at Toronto.

J. S. MARTIN OF POULTRY FAME PASSES AWAY

"Wyandotte King," Who Was Ontario Minister of Agriculture For Years, Dies

Canadian Press
Port Dover, Ont., May 13.—John S. Martin, former Minister of Agriculture of Ontario, died at his home here to-day. He had been ill for some months.

Mr. Martin, M.P.P. for Norfolk and former grand master of the Masonic Grand Lodge in Ontario, was in his fifty-sixth year.

SUFFERED IN ACCIDENT
In June, 1929, while recovering from a break-down, he was in a motor accident and had two ribs broken. He was unable to participate in the Ontario general election in October, 1929, but was re-elected member of the Legislature for Norfolk by a majority of 1,469, for his third successive term in the House. He returned to his office as Minister of Agriculture in November, 1930. In the cabinet reorganization last September he retired on account of ill-health. He was unable to attend the session of the Legislature this year.

Mr. Martin had a world-wide reputation as a poultry breeder, in which business he had engaged for many years. He was known as the "Wyandotte King" making a specialty of that class of poultry.

Entering the Ontario political field for the first time in 1923, John S. Martin immediately became Minister of Agriculture in the cabinet of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, but despite that rapid rise to cabinet rank, he probably was "better" known throughout the North American continent as "The White Wyandotte King."

A graduate of the University of Toronto and a high school teacher, Mr. Martin turned early in this century to devote all his time to the raising of pure-bred poultry, and came to rank highest among the Wyandotte exhibitors at the national and international shows on this continent.

BORN IN ONTARIO
Born on the family farm in the township of Walpole, Haldimand County, Ontario, October 11, 1875, his love for poultry was early displayed. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Martin.

Ottawa Officials Say $250,000,000 Mark For Conversion Issue Will Be Passed

Reports Show Many in Rural Districts Turn in Old Bonds For New

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 13.—Over-night reports and further telegraphed details to-day indicate the success of the $250,000,000 Dominion Conversion Loan. More than $200,000,000 had been subscribed. Particularly from the rural districts were the reports most satisfactory.

With many old bonds in the hands of brokers to be cancelled for the new issue, $100,000,000 of old certificates were actually in the hands of the government early this afternoon to be invested in the Conversion Loan. Over-subscription of the $250,000,000 was stated to be assured.

COMMITTEE REPORT
Montreal, May 13.—Sir Charles Gordon, chairman of the 1931 Conversion Loan Committee, stated applications had passed the $200,000,000 mark at noon to-day and that subscriptions to the government's $250,000,000 conversion loan were still pouring in from all parts of the country.

INTERNATIONAL WHEAT BOARD IS PROPOSED BY AUSTRALIA

Canadian Press Cable Via Reuters
Melbourne, Australia, May 13.—Australia's representatives will submit definite proposals for meeting the situation arising from the world wheat surplus when the conference of wheat exporting nations opens in Canada House, London, May 18, under the chairmanship of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to Great Britain.

At the request of Hon. Parker Moloney, Minister of Transport and Markets, an interstate conference of wheat growers drew up a list of suggestions which are being called to London to be put before the world conference for its consideration. These will probably give a lead to the conference, for no agenda has yet been drawn up in London and there are no other indications of other definite proposals before the conference.

BOARD SUGGESTED
The Australian proposals will be as follows:

(1) Establishment of an international wheat marketing organization, representing all wheat exporting countries, to control all wheat offered for export sale.

(2) That each wheat exporting nation have representatives on the board of the international organization. (All wheat exporting nations will be represented at the London conference.)

(3) That a preliminary meeting be arranged of representatives of the governments of the wheat-exporting nations, parties to the international organization, to suggest the basis of proportionate percentages of the exportable surplus to be marketed jointly.

(4) That the adhering countries shall guarantee the advance of such an international agreement, possibly by each posting a substantial financial bond.

(5) In regard to its selling policy, such an international organization shall take cognizance of the normal relativity of prices between the marketing grades of the participating countries. In other words, the finest hard wheat and cheaper soft wheat grades are not to be lumped, in one great commodity for purposes of international distribution.

FROM FIVE CONTINENTS
When the conference is opened in London next Monday representatives will be present from Canada, Australia, the United States, Argentina, Bulgaria, Hungary, India, Poland, Soviet Russia, Roumania and Yugoslavia. A secretariat has been busy ever since the international conference of exporting and importing countries held in Rome last March, preparing for the London meeting, which was proposed at Rome by the Canadian delegates.

ADVISORY BOARD
The proposal of an international clearing house for wheat has been repeatedly suggested as the main subject of the London conference. It has been indicated, however, the discussions would not centre on an international organization for actual selling of wheat, but rather on a sort of international advisory board. The trend of the discussions naturally cannot be traced before the delegates actually get to grips with the problem.

Disorder was widespread over the country although Madrid, ruled by troops, was quiet.

AUSTRALIAN
BILL REJECTED

Senate Throws Out Scullin
Measure For Shipment of $25,000,000 to London

Premier Wants Non-party
Committees of House of Representatives to Decide

Canberra, Australia, May 13.—The Australian Senate today by the overwhelming vote of twenty-one to four defeated the Commonwealth Bank Bill, which would have provided for shipment abroad of $25,000,000 of the gold reserve to meet debts due.

The opposition senators decided to oppose the bill since they were unable to find any way of satisfactorily amending it.

Last week Sir Robert Gibson, chairman of the Commonwealth Bank, asked to give his opinion on the bill, declared that the bill did not approve of the gold shipment, but that it would adversely affect confidence in the Australian note issues.

The bill provided for a shipment of $25,000,000 gold to London to meet treasury bills due at the end of June.

Another Plan
The Commonwealth Bank contends shipment of gold is not the only alternative to defaulting these payments, and a plan prepared by Sir Robert Gibson is now being studied by a non-political committee of fiscal experts.

The action of the Senate strengthened the government's determination to turn the House of Representatives into a non-political economic conference during the present state of emergency.

Premier James Scullin would like to sweep aside party lines in the present crisis and create committees of a non-partisan character to examine specific proposals. He will hold back his plans for issuing $50,000,000 in fiduciary notes for shipping gold abroad, the interest rates bill in fact all other items of government policy if the opposition shows willingness to co-operate with the government.

So far there has been no indication the opposition will do that. It is believed in some quarters that if the government fails to secure the co-operation of the opposition in the present crisis, it will go ahead with the plan to submit to the people in form of a referendum, demands for sweeping powers in commercial, financial and industrial matters.

British Business Leaders Consider Prince of Wales's Suggestion

London, May 13.—The Prince of Wales's speech at Manchester yesterday evening has been cordially received in every department of trade and commerce and industry. His remarks on the necessity for reform of British methods, and more especially the need for meeting foreign tariff obstacles by establishing manufacturing plants abroad and within those tariff walls, were the subject of widespread discussion in business circles.

Sir Gilbert Pyle, former president of the British Chambers of Commerce Association, declared the Prince's speech would undoubtedly be a tremendous stimulant and very helpful. "But there remains," said Sir Gilbert, "the tremendous difficulty of producing in England goods comparable in both price and value with the goods of other countries."

Attractive Appearance
Edward Symonds, president of the British Fashion and Fabrics Bureau, heartily endorsed the Prince's plea for goods of attractive appearance, and pointed out that British textile materials recently produced in Lancashire and Yorkshire were of such an attractive and bright appearance they could not be surpassed by continental makes.

The Prince's Manchester speech was much along the lines of his address to business men at Birmingham Monday evening. In both, he was outspoken in his comments on the necessity for modernizing British sales methods, and on the necessity of meeting the worldwide demand for cheaper goods.

Branch Factories
But at Manchester he incorporated remarks on foreign tariff barriers, aroused the keenest interest throughout Great Britain today. Foreign countries, he said, naturally desired to foster by means of tariff barriers, their own manufactures.

This desire, he said, "increasing year by year, is seriously threatening our export trade, and I think we have come to the point where we must most carefully consider the advisability, in some cases, of manufacturing in those countries, inside their tariff walls, and thus at least ensuring the flow of British raw materials."

Courtenay, May 13.—Fire, which has been raging since Monday in forest slashings over a large area in the vicinity of Cougar Point, Campbell Lake, was reported to be under control today by W. G. Henning, fire ranger of the Courtenay district.

The fire at Cougar Point is being fought by several hundred men under Fire Ranger I. S. Grant of the Campbell Lake area.

It is reported that the fire was caused by backback friction. It broke out in the timber limits of the Elk River Lumber Company and the blaze is said to cover between 700 and 800 acres.

CARD RATION
PLAN REDUCED

Soviet Government Routing
All Private Traders in Russia; Currency Deflated

Moscow, May 13.—Deflation of the currency, abolition of private traders and building up of Soviet state trade were today as principal objectives of the decree, partially discarding the card ration system in Russia.

The decree, signed by Premier Molotov and Joseph Stalin, head of the communist party, abolishes the card ration system on everything except food, fuel and some building materials. The new policy followed a fifty per cent increase in the prices of many commodities.

It is expected to deflate the Russian currency by making available at high prices clothes, shoes and other necessities. From the sale of which the government expects to retrieve millions of rubles and thus obviate further issues of paper money.

HIGHER PROFITS
The government hopes to practically do away with the private traders and build up state trade on increased prices, with large profits for the government.

The government also hopes by the new decree to win popular support by showing additional favor to the lighter industries, which heretofore have been subordinated to the heavier.

The card ration system was in operation more than a year, and reported scarcity of commodities, whereby workers were required to obtain orders from their unions or factories to purchase shoes, clothes and other necessities from government co-operative stores.

Effort to Lift Deadlock Between City and Power Company Over Light Rates

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, May 13.—Nanaimo Board of Trade yesterday evening with President Mitchell in the chair, four new members were admitted to membership. The board decided to work in conjunction with the city council in effecting a settlement of the light rates dispute between the city and the power company.

A resolution from the B.C. unemployment relief committee urging compulsory unemployment insurance, was discussed and laid on the table. The Vernon board wrote asking the board's support for the annual convention of B.C. boards. The secretary was instructed to make arrangements for the local board to suggest that delegates from the associated boards would be better and suggest that this idea be adopted.

Communications from the Chamber of Commerce with reference to marketing of produce and foreign invoices were referred to the agricultural committee.

A resolution of the Duncan board to reduce the salaries of the ministers of both Dominion and Provincial Governments and civil servants ten per cent in salaries as a measure of retrenchment, brought forth much discussion. George S. Pearson was of the opinion that any cabinet ministers were underpaid for services and could earn more in civil life.

Wages should be increased and the standard of living raised. He opposed the resolution as retrogressive.

The matter was left over until the next meeting. The board decided to meet Mr. Bowness of the Electric Light Company on Thursday morning to discuss lighting rates and try and remove the deadlock between the light company and the city. Mayor Hall was present and gave the city council's view, stating that it would be unwise to accept the company's present offer which called for a year's contract and may prove costly for the city.

George Pearson gave report on unemployment in the city and urged the need of impressing upon the government the importance of the situation. He stated the time had arrived to try and bring about a settlement of the light rates dispute. He suggested that citizens beautify their homes to attract tourists and advertise the city.

Low Lee, local laundry operator, was fined $50 yesterday by Magistrate Devoor for operating after hours. He was charged under the Factory Act.

Alleging a 3-year contract with the city, a new long-handled dust pan pressed its edge tight against a floor to receive all sweepings.

AIDED IN JAPAN

The minister said that in all his investigations in Japan he had been assisted to the fullest extent by Japanese officials. They had gone to endless trouble in aiding him in every way. He was most happy to state that his relations with the Government and people of Japan were most friendly and cordial. He was most grateful for all the consideration he had been shown by them. He thought that the Japanese were a wonderful people, full of courage and industry—of a delightful personality. He was proud to seek their friendship for Canada.

In China Mr. Marler said he had been met with every consideration by the officials and people of that country. He had had frequent conversations with several of the ministers of the Chinese Government. They, in his opinion, were working very hard and conscientiously in the interests of their country, and were making considerable progress notwithstanding the difficulties with which they were faced.

CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

The minister described his relations with all British officials in Japan and China as extremely satisfactory. He thought those officials a splendid group of men continuously working in the interests of their country with no thought of self. He had been brought into frequent contact with them, particularly of course, with those of the British Embassy at Tokyo, and the most friendly and intimate relations existed. The plan adopted between the Embassy and the Legation had been one of co-operation in so far as Empire matters in which Canada had any interest were concerned. As to matters relating to Canada alone they were entirely conducted by the Canadian Legation. This plan had worked out most satisfactorily and in the opinion of the minister had not only increased Canadian prestige in the Far East, but Empire prestige also.

FRIENDLY RELATIONS

The minister, asked as to his opinion on the prospects of trade between Canada and Japan, and Canada and China, said in those respects he was most interested and he had always considered, and still considered, trade as a matter of vital importance to Canada. He said, however, that he must ask Canadians to bear in mind that the progress of trade as he would like to see it progress, depended on the preservation and promotion of friendly relations. This was most important in the Orient. Then came organization and initiative. He said that trade between Canada and Japan had made already very considerable progress due to the efforts of Mr. Langley, who had been in charge of Canada's commercial affairs in Japan for many years, and whose services in that country, the minister said, had been outstanding.

GROWING MARKET

At present all he needed to say was in his opinion the Japanese market was distinctly a growing market for many of Canada's products, and merited every attention.

As to trade with China there was a further market there for both our natural products and manufactured goods, but at the same time the market was extremely competitive and consideration of some factors of a complicated nature. With that study and with initiative he was quite certain great results would be achieved.

Canadian activities and interests in the Far East were certainly becoming greater, and even more diversified. He spoke with pride on the development of certain Canadian institutions, and said he did not think all Canadians realized the effect it had on Canada's trade and prestige to have added to that there was complete stability in the Far East and the Pacific.

In regard to the political situation, there was little to say about Japan beyond that there was complete stability throughout the Empire. Mr. Marler said the Chinese ministers were doing their best to bring about peace and stability in the Far East and of serving Canada there.

The minister complimented his staff of secretaries in Tokyo, consisting, in addition to Mr. Langley, of Mr. P. H. Kenney and Mr. P. Kirkwood.

Last fall Mr. Marler made an extensive trip through Korea, Manchuria and Northern China. This, he said, was designed to meet people and ascertain in what way the sale of Canadian products could be promoted. In addition the secretaries of the Legation had made visits to various parts of Japan and to North-eastern Manchuria. In all cases the information gathered on these trips had been most carefully tabulated, and kept up to date. Thus the Legation was well up to date in all the information essential to Canadian interests, both

There the prestige of that great Canadian enterprise was becoming greater every day. He said that he did not think all Canadians realized the wonderful effect it had on Canadian trade and prestige to have it said that Canadian ships were the finest and fastest on the Pacific, and to have the magnificence of thousands and thousands of great ports of Yokohama, Kobe, Shanghai and Hongkong. In their voyages, those great vessels were seen by hundreds of thousands and thus created the most favorable comment as regards Canadian enterprise and ability, to say nothing of being one of the greatest, if not the greatest means for advertising Canada in the Orient.

CHINA'S FUTURE

Mr. Marler was asked as to his opinion on the political situation in Japan and China. As to Japan, he said little need be said beyond that there was complete stability throughout that empire. He was quite intimate with conditions there and was fortunate in knowing several of the ministers very well. He had great admiration for them and most highly valued their friendship. As to conditions in China he had not seen any real progress as to important happenings there for the last two weeks, but when he left Japan he thought conditions in China were far more settled than for two years, or even a year ago. There was no doubt the Chinese ministers were doing their best to bring about peace and stability. The people there were now thinking more of commercial activities and advancement rather than continuing political dissensions. He believed China had a splendid future.

Mr. Marler stated that he planned to spend three days in Vancouver and would then proceed with Mr. Marler direct to Ottawa to confer with Premier Bennett and his government. He expected to visit Victoria and other centres of British Columbia before leaving again for Japan.

Mr. Marler was appointed to the office of Canadian Minister to Japan in the summer of 1929, and left here on August 29 of that year for Tokyo.

TRADE METHODS NEED CHANGES. STATES PRINCE

Manchester Business Men
Hear Prince of Wales, Back
From South America.

Manchester, Eng., May 12.—"I am sure you think we have come to the point where we have to consider most carefully the advisability in many cases of manufacturing inside tariff walls and thus at least insuring the flow of British raw materials," said the Prince of Wales in addressing the Manchester Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The Prince declared foreign tariff walls threatened the export trade of many of Great Britain's manufactured articles.

In approaching the subject, the Prince referred to the inconveniences many neutral countries had experienced during the Great War through the cutting of goods previously imported from belligerent countries. In order to get rid of the disadvantage inherent in such dependence, many countries had shown an increasing desire to foster their own manufacturers by means of tariff barriers, thus threatening the British export trade of many manufactured articles. British manufacturers should, therefore, consider starting industries in foreign countries where there were tariff walls, he believed.

The meeting yesterday was the second "trade clinic" since the Prince returned from his goodwill tour in Latin-America, when he opened the British Empire Trade Exposition at Buenos Aires. That the heir to the throne had made a close study of Latin-American and British trade conditions was evident as he spoke to the business men.

ADVERTISING METHODS
Business men of Great Britain should take a leaf from the book of United States business men in regard to publicity for their manufactures, he believes.

"In the past an article sold mainly on account of quality and durability. That was because people could afford it. To-day the majority appear to desire goods that will not last so long," he said. "The first reason is they want cheaper goods. Another is that they are always looking forward to some improvement. Another reason is that we have got into the habit of wanting change for the sake of change; in fact the taste of the world is becoming as fickle as women's fashions."

He urged British business men to have confidence in their ability to recapture South American markets. The markets could be recovered, providing an aggressive policy were carried out. "Believe me when I say that in the struggle that lies ahead you can al-

LONDON BANKER REVEALS PLAN TO RESTORE SILVER

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 12.—The Ottawa Citizen says a project for the remonetization of silver by means of a super bank of Empire has been submitted to the government by J. L. Darling, director of the Midland Bank of England. The Canadian Government is asked to take the lead in summoning an Empire conference on the subject, the Citizen says.

Mr. Darling is an outstanding authority on currency and has devoted great study to silver and its bearing on the present economic depression. He holds restoration of the value of silver is necessary if the economic balance of the world is to be restored.

He is in the capital at present.

"Mr. Darling's scheme," The Citizen says, "is for the suggested Empire bank to take over all the gold and silver stocks of the Empire. It would probably start with 250,000,000 res in gold and 50,000,000 res in silver, the res being the standard bookkeeping entry, approximating to the sovereign, which the bank would adopt. The bank would then remonetize silver for use throughout the Empire, maintaining a ratio of twenty to one between it and gold."

"The Empire bank, having a monopoly of the metal, would conserve its supply by raising the price of gold in dollars. Some 60,000,000 res would be kept pouring into the bank from the mines and the fact, with the monopoly of exchange transactions, would make the bank secure."

REMEMBRANCE DAY DEBATE

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 12.—Joint celebration of Remembrance Day and Thanksgiving will be the aim of a motion which will be introduced in the Senate by Hon. John Stanfield, Conservative, Nova Scotia.

When the Senate yesterday evening was considering a bill which was passed by the Commons, fixing Remembrance Day on November 11, each year, Senator Stanfield gave notice of his suggested amendment. The bill was referred to a committee, where the proposed change will be considered.

The bill, as it passed the Lower House, changed the name of Armistice Day to Remembrance Day and fixed it permanently on November 11. At the present time it is celebrated on the Sunday of the week in which November 11 falls.

Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, Liberal, Montreal, suggested the combining of All Saints' Day, Remembrance Day and Thanksgiving, but it did not meet with marked favor.

ways count on me; and that I shall always be only too happy if the opportunity arises to pull my weight," the Prince concluded amid cheers.

SWEEPSTAKES BILL STUDIED

St. John, N.B., May 12.—Investigation of a private bill now before the Senate of Canada, which would legalize the holding of hospital sweepstakes in provinces of the Dominion when sanctioned by the Attorney-General, was ordered yesterday by the St. John Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, in session here. The study will be made by a special committee.

WOULD RUN OWN CANCER CLINIC

Drs. Coffey and Humber Seek to Treat Patients in New York

New York, May 12.—Their plea for their own clinic to treat human beings in New York with adrenal gland extract for cancer was renewed in person yesterday by Doctors Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber of San Francisco, before the state board of social welfare.

The board took the application under advisement after a four-hour hearing during which Doctors Coffey and Humber presented illustrated lantern slides.

Organized medicine of New York City and state was present, and the discussion boiled down finally to a question whether these eastern savants were shutting out cancer sufferers from a chance for relief.

"A Chinese wall is erected against Doctors Coffey and Humber," said their counsel, Herbert L. Satterlee of New York. In reply, city, county and state authorities offered to take the western extract and experiment with it in their own hospitals under supervision of Dr. Coffey and Dr. Humber.

But Doctors Coffey and Humber said they could not accept, because they earnestly believed they should have also the privilege of treating a certain number of cancer patients in their own hospital. On that question of their own clinic for Coffey and Humber debate stuck, neither side yielding.

ITALY'S NEW TRADE PACTS DISCUSSED

Rome, May 12.—Italy's tri-partite trade agreement with Austria and Hungary is described on good authority as a workable substitute for the Austro-German accord and Aristide Briand's proposed economic remedies. Italy, it is said, expects excellent results from it.

Details of the agreement will not be disclosed until Dino Grandi, Foreign Minister, can discuss them with representatives of other nations at the League of Nations Council meeting in Geneva. All other nations are to be invited to join the combination.

Conclusion of the agreement is regarded as of tremendous political importance since Austria can point to it as proof of the proposed union with Germany does not prevent free negotiation trade treaties with other countries.

More important from the Italian viewpoint is the opportunity to present at Geneva the accomplished fact of three trade accords while Briand's plan is still a theory and the Austro-German arrangement so far exists only on paper.

CREDIT SYSTEM
Three points of the Austro-Hungarian accord are understood to be increased trade in products which each nation desires to export, establishment of a central banking fund for extension of long-time low interest credits, and simplification of customs formalities.

These three factors are expected to facilitate trade, and Italy's successful development of a credit trade accord with Soviet Russia leads observers to believe the present agreements may be broadened into a workable European economic union.

SEASON HERE IS EARLIER BY TWO WEEKS

Dominion Reports on Crop Conditions Throughout the West

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 12.—Seeding conditions as of April 30 were given in the crop report issued by The Dominion Bureau of Statistics. In the Maritimes the season was two weeks earlier than usual. Conditions were good in Quebec and Ontario. In the prairies there was lack of moisture and in British Columbia the weather had been favorable.

Conditions by western provinces follow:

Manitoba—Very little snow having fallen during the past winter, there has been scarcely any moisture stored up, particularly on stubble land where the soil is generally very dry. With high winds prevailing during the month, this condition has resulted in considerable soil drifting, making it difficult to get work done. However, a large proportion of the seeding has been completed, this operation being earlier than in 1930. There are hard frosts at night which have increased the difficulties in getting seeding fully under way. The growth of pastures and hay lands has been retarded by the cold, dry weather. Feed is still plentiful.

Saskatchewan—The weather in April has been dry with some high winds which resulted in severe dust storms and some soil drifting. Wheat seeding was a little better than last year, but at the end of the month with the soil in most of the southern and central districts in need of rain.

Alberta—The soil is stated to be in good condition for seeding. Summer-fallow land is being seeded at present as stubble is considered too dry. The seeding on wheat in many areas is nearly complete, but there are several reports of high winds and soil drifting which have necessitated re-seeding. Much of the grain, in fact, is being sown on account of this factor. Rain is greatly needed. There has been some winter-killing of clover meadows and fall-sown grain. The appearance of cutworms is reported. Livestock are in good condition. Pastures are rather short owing to the dryness of the soil.

British Columbia—The very mild and open winter has resulted in fall wheat and hay and clover meadows coming through in splendid condition. The first part of April was cold and wet, but since the middle of the month very favorable weather has resulted and seeding is proceeding rapidly. In southern Vancouver Island, the season is at least a fortnight earlier than the average. Insect damage to truck and fruit crops is reported.

NEW ECONOMY RULES FOR U.S. ARMED FORCES

Reports Say Hoover Hopes Reduction Move Will Spread to Other Nations

Canadian Press
New York, May 12.—In a news report from Washington of the economy programme affecting the United States War Department, The New York Times to-day said the plan announced by President Hoover has "a wider application in its relation to international politics."

The Washington dispatch to The Times said curtailment of military costs was intended chiefly as a measure of domestic economy, but it fitted into the thought in the President's mind when he told the congress of the International Chamber of Commerce last week that the business men of the world should use their influence toward obtaining an international agreement for the reduction and limitation of huge armaments.

WAR DEBT DISCUSSION
The dispatch further said:

"There runs through the mind of administration officials the thought that substantial approach to the leading nations toward what is loosely called disarmament might furnish the ground work for a revision of the inter-allied war debts."

"The opinion of some officials, the American people are not now in a mood to look sympathetically on proposals for reconsideration of the war debts, and will not be unless and until some quid pro quo is provided by the action of the debtor nations. A curtailment of heavy land armaments in Europe, it is contended, would arouse an approving sentiment in this country, which could be led to reciprocal feeling and fertile ground for discussing a new survey of the debt situation."

SUIT AGAINST POLICE CHIEF OF VANCOUVER

Canadian Press
Vancouver, May 12.—A writ charging libel was issued at the courthouse here yesterday afternoon against Chief of Police W. J. Bingham by Police Commissioner Harry Burgess.

The plaintiff's claim, according to the writ, is for unstated damages for libel contained in a letter dated April 12, 1931, alleged to have been written by Chief Bingham to Mayor Louis D. Taylor and members of the city council.

In the letter, the writ states, Chief Bingham is alleged to have referred to a conversation between himself and Commissioner Burgess which, Mr. Burgess claims, never took place.

The conversation, as alleged to have been reported in the chief's letter to the city council, is quoted on the writ and states Bingham claimed Burgess had uttered the following words:

"As there is no money hanging on this commissioner's job? I said 'No, there is no salary.' He said, 'Yes, I understand there is some to be made; in fact, I was told the job was worth $40,000 a year.' I said, 'I do not understand you.' He said, 'Oh, I understand,' and he picked up his hat and immediately left."

Stickers For Letters Advertise Mexico's Tourist Attractions

Special to The Times
Mexico City, May 12.—Canadian businessmen and individual citizens of the Dominion who have correspondence contact with leading banking and commercial houses in Mexico will soon have brought to their attention another phase of this republic's campaign to attract tourists. The Banco de Mexico, this land's only bank of issue, has published a series of stamps that will be employed in a manner similar to that in which Christmas seals are used in Canada.

The bank has obtained the co-operation of important Mexican and foreign firms doing business in the republic. The stamps are eye-catching things, printed in five colors each, and depict various Mexican beauty spots and places of historic and tourist interest. Banks and other firms co-operating in the plan will affix these stamps to letters, folders, catalogues, etc., which are sent to addresses in Canada, the United States and Europe. The Banco de Mexico is bearing the cost of printing and distributing these tourist propaganda seals. This is the first time in Mexico a bank has employed correspondence seals for this purpose.

Among Canadian and British firms operating in Mexico that are co-operating in the plan are the Bank of Montreal, Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Wiggins-Lite-Thomas Cook & Son. The Banco de Mexico has become a prominent factor in Mexico's campaign to tell the world about the wonderful things it has to offer tourists. The institution has established a tourist bureau, the function of which is to afford all facilities to any and all who are interested in vacationing in this country. The tourist stamps are the first shot in this campaign.

TELLING 'EM

ONCE AGAIN THE INDUSTRIALISTS of Great Britain have been told that if they desire to capture new markets in foreign lands and hold those they already have, they will have to change their methods of manufacture, give the people what they want, and advertise along more aggressive lines. The Prince of Wales has sounded the latest warning. He spoke at Birmingham on Monday night and at Manchester yesterday, and his speeches are described as the longest and most serious speeches he has ever delivered. According to Mr. Lukin Johnston, the Southern newspapers' London correspondent, they were straight business talks, without any funny stories or any attempt to sugar-coat some of the unpleasant truths the Prince sought to drive home to his audiences.

It is not for us to pass judgment upon the various "warnings" that have been given to the British industrialist along the lines followed by the Prince of Wales. The record shows that he has been able to take care of himself wherever he has chosen to offer his goods for sale. He has held his own, incidentally, without making a great deal of noise about what he has been doing, what triumphs he has scored through the application of his inventive genius. But, as the Prince said at Birmingham, "the taste of the world is as fickle as women's fashions," which is a reminder that times have changed, and changing times require changing methods. On the subject of advertising, for instance, the royal "commercial traveler" had this to say:

"I'm sorry to say we, as a nation, are far behind our rivals in advertising. Many Englishmen say the American form of publicity is vulgar. That is a matter of opinion—the fact is they get away with it and put their goods across."

If Britain's industrial leaders are in need of a "jolt," the Prince's words may sink in and do good. He found out in South America that "British prestige as a manufacturing country is not what it was," that "this feeling exists not only with South American business people, but among British communities there also." As a parting shot he warned the men to whom he was speaking against sending subordinates to study markets. Thus two great industrial centres in Britain have been told to "buck up."

MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK

IT WILL BE RECALLED THAT MR. O. C. Bass, Deputy Attorney-General, who conducted an exhaustive public inquiry into the Mt. Douglas Park situation, criticized certain operations which the municipal authorities had permitted in the area, in terms, which while severe, were not at all more so, in the opinion of The Times, than the circumstances called for. The commissioner singled out particularly as subjects for denunciation the hideous gravel pit, the garbage dumps along the embankment and the projected roadway through the forest for which some fine timber has been sacrificed.

Notwithstanding the report of the commissioner, the Victoria and Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee a few days ago recommended to the City Council the completion of the road. The recommendation has not been adopted, pending a report from the city's legal adviser as to the municipality's liability for damages in connection with this work. This, however, appears to us to be a subsidiary consideration in view of the finding of the commissioner that the road disfigures the park and should not be continued in any circumstances. The best course for the council to pursue in the circumstances is to turn Mt. Douglas Park over to the government.

A FANTASTIC PROPOSAL

OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY TODAY says "under the Conservative government at Ottawa there is a definite understanding that it would be an unwise procedure to permit foreign interests to get control of air mail services from this Dominion. The policy being pursued by the departments at Ottawa that are interested—the Post Office Department, that of Marine and the Department of National Defence—is to see that all seaplane bases, aerodromes, and all air services utilizing facilities in Canada and with Canadian air mail contracts are under Canadian control."

Elsewhere The Colonist says "the agitation that has ensued in Victoria for the establishment of a seaplane base in the Inner Harbor has been avowedly fostered with the object of allowing a foreign firm to locate aviation facilities here," and it adds that "all air services operating from Canadian territory should be conducted by Canadian interests from Canadian-owned and controlled bases."

The views expressed above embody something decidedly new and novel in the way of national and transportation policy. The contention that none but Canadian aircraft services should be permitted to operate from Canadian territory is the most fantastic thing we have read for many moons. Our contemporary appears to have overlooked the fact that if that policy were adopted by Canada there would be no aircraft service between this country and the United States at all, since the republic naturally would pursue a similar course.

Why not go the whole route and apply this policy of non-intercourse to steamship and railway services to the end that all means of transportation of passengers, mail and freight between Canada and her neighbors should be discontinued? Why not prevent United States and other foreign countries from using our docks, with the consequence that the C.P.R. and Canadian National steamships would be denied the use of wharves facilities in Seattle. Why not prohibit United States motor car ferries operating out of Victoria and Sidney? The Bennett government has gone a long way in the direction of Canadian isolation, and our trade has dropped some $600,000,000 a year in disastrous consequence, but it would hesitate to go that far.

For some time the Alaska-Washington Airways Company has been using Victoria Harbor in its triangular service. Apparently, in the light of its dictum that none but Canadian services should be permitted to use our harbors, The Colonist would have this permission cancelled. It would also put a stop to the mail service out of Seattle to this port which has been in operation for years.

The company which proposes to establish a seaplane base in Victoria Harbor, spending some $120,000 for the purpose, numbers Canadians among its shareholders. The contention that this investment of new capital would be inimical to the national interest because it is of foreign origin suggests that our contemporary is bankrupt, indeed, of any reasonable argument to support its hostility to an enterprise which would mean the expenditure of more capital and the employment of people here who are badly in need of it.

STILL THEY COME

ACCORDING TO HON. W. A. MCKENZIE, Minister of Labor in the Tolmie government, the winter climate of British Columbia continues to be an attraction to unemployed workers in other parts of the country, and he wants to make sure that if conditions next winter are no better than they were last, these "floaters" do not drift into this province as they have done in other years. Mr. McKenzie also is of the opinion that now is the time, not September or October, to formulate plans to meet any emergency that may arise. In these matters the Minister is on sound ground.

In former years the word has gone out to the provinces on the other side of the Rockies that British Columbia has no surplus winter employment, that those who come here come at their own risk and need not expect any special consideration. But they have come all the same, and those who have been in need have not been allowed to starve. Nor is it a simple matter to prevent these people from coming unless regulations are imposed at the provincial boundary which would require all in search of employment to satisfy British Columbia officials that they will be in a position to look after themselves if they are unable to find work. This may be considered harsh procedure, but it might save the province and persons involved a good deal of trouble later on if some such system were inaugurated under the special circumstances of the time. The ordinary form of notice which has been used hitherto does not seem to have had the desired effect.

WHAT WILL THE PROPOSALS BE?

WHAT PROPOSALS CANADA WILL present to the Imperial Economic Conference in August may not be divulged until after Parliament has prorogued, or possibly not until the delegates meet at Ottawa. In the meantime, however, it is difficult to see just what Mr. Bennett can promise Great Britain which might induce that country to change its views on food taxes. If the MacDonald government remains in office, the Canadian delegation will be faced with the same uncompromising hostility to any departure by Britain from her present fiscal policy as it met in London last fall if it submits a similar proposal.

In the light of the existing trade relationship between Canada and the United Kingdom, this Dominion has no possible cause for grievance. The boot is on the other foot. It will be recalled that just before Mr. Bennett and his colleagues left for last year's gathering, notwithstanding the fact that the balance of trade was, and had been for years, heavily in Canada's favor, the new government at Ottawa imposed additional duties on many British commodities, making it still more difficult for them to enter this country. The preference the Prime Minister offered to give British goods in return for a tax on foreign foodstuffs, therefore, was considered largely illusory by British exporters, since it amounted to a preference on duties which at their lowest were virtually prohibitive. Will Canada court another failure next August?

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

IN THE CAUSE OF TEMPERANCE
The Charlton News and Courier

In the first three months of this year, 128 persons were arrested by the highway patrol for driving while drunk and were convicted. Had their licenses to drive been suspended they would have been forced to choose between drinking and driving, and most of them would have given up drinking. The News and Courier, which is a temperance newspaper, is of opinion that a law depriving drunkards of the privilege of driving would do more to promote sobriety than any law now on the statute books.

FACISM AND PANIC FOR NIGARAQA
The Chicago Tribune

Americans are coming out of the interior of Nicaragua with good reasons for hurrying. Word has been sent to them that their government cannot undertake to protect them. . . . Mr. Stimson is probably prepared to agree to the landing of British marines to take the place of the withdrawn American forces. A British squadron protected Americans in Tampico when Mr. Bryan surrendered the responsibility. Americans who cannot get out of Nicaragua may again rely on the British flag for the guarantees refused under their own.

DEPORTATION OF ALIENS
The Hartford Courant

Now for the first time there will also be foreigners who travel at public expense, yet suffer no disgrace. It will be composed of those who came to this country within the last three years, are now unemployed and destitute and therefore request that they be returned to their native lands where they have friends and relatives to help them. The interpretation of the law by the Secretary of Labor which makes this voluntary emigration possible will solve the plight of the so-called alien who in the past could not ask for charity for fear of being deported as a public charge and so become ineligible for ever returning. The announcement in the foreign language newspapers of this opportunity brought nearly 200 applications within a few days. It is the only fair treatment for those who gave up a living in the old countries to come to America and who lost their jobs here through no fault of their own. It allows them to return without any disgrace or expense, and it improves the situation here, both as to relief at present and as to employment in the future.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

A column which was designed for good advice—but which trails off into weak-minded reflections—of other places and better days.

By H. B. W.

THIS IS the season when people plan magnificent holidays, which they know perfectly well they will never take. It is probably a good time to remind you, therefore, that the best place to go for your holidays, particularly in these times when we need all our money for ourselves, is right here in British Columbia. Indeed, when I contemplate the places in British Columbia where I am determined to go this year, my head swims, my heart faints with excitement and I realize that it would take me at least six months to visit them all. At this season, when the air is warm and the fields still green and the birds are singing and all that sort of thing, it is all I can do to resist the temptation of rushing into the wilds forthwith, and leaving the readers of this column broken-hearted.

ON SUCH a day as this I think I should like to be on the Great North Road of British Columbia, running away from the readers of this column and all the other important aspects of life, racing along beside the swirl of the Fraser—the Great North Road, which seems to have no end and curves ahead of you as if it went on forever. I should like to see the Fraser's black canyon once more, down beside the yellow water, where you can lose the yellow into it, and then up again so high that it looks like a little stream, and the transcontinental trains appear like crawling insects down below.

I SHOULD like to camp for dinner and ice-cold little streams which drop down a hundred feet at a step, and see the dusk come early in this jagged rift between the mountains, until the river down there is an untidy gleam and the canyon walls, two or three miles away, seem so close that you could reach out and pick off the little lights which glow out from them, the lights of Indian shacks or some solitary railway station. There is a strange loneliness and a great quiet in the canyon these spring evenings, all the more quiet because, in an underground, felt more than heard, the river is droning its endless song in the darkness.

IT IS good to be in the canyon on an evening like this, but it is a relief to come out of it again into the open, where the mountains appear less likely to roll down upon you. On a day like this, then, put me on the trail which curves back and forth, mile after mile, up the sheer side of Pavilion Mountain, past Lilacoot, up, up it goes, until the lower road, which seemed miles high before, is a narrow streak now, the clouds are far below and the whole map of British Columbia seems laid out before you. When you get to the top, instead of the mountain peak you had expected, you find a vast rolling plateau, so far across that the other mountains are suddenly lost below the rim. It is a land of green grass and open timber, of gusty winds and nodding wildflowers, and you feel that you have reached the top of the world at last.

DAY AFTER day you can follow the Great North Road and find it ever different—the lonely miles through the jackpine forests—the hill of crimson gravel down to old Quenest—the twistings of the Fraser through its banks of yellow clay—the rolling sea of timber, so endless and so changeless that it wearies you in the looking—the cavernous drop down into Colquhoun Canyon, where the poor old P.O.E. stopped in the day before, and finally the Fraser again and Prince George.

THERE is another land up there which you should see this year, a land which might be in a different country or a different world. It is a land of long blue lakes, of roads which race through the timber, straight as an arrow for miles, of farms newly-taken from the wilderness. And at the end of it is Little Hamilton, wedged in its tiny triangle between the Bulkley and the Skeena, with its graveyard of weird Indian tombs on a little hill beside the town, and standing above it the great grey face of old Rochede Boule, the pointed mountain of the rolling stone.

OR HOW jolly to be this evening on the narrow road which leads between the hills to Barkerville! Up above the yellow ribbon of old logging Creek, which yielded millions in the great gold rush, down in the narrow black defile of Devil's Canyon, where you can touch the sides of two mountains from either side of your car, beside the inky stretch of Jack o' Clubs Lake, and then round the corner into the little crooked street of Barkerville! Here, indeed, you are in a different world, among a different people, as isolated from us as if they lived ten thousand miles away. There is an aged woman in a little white house in Barkerville who has never been outside this tiny valley for sixty odd years, a Chinese cook in Kelly's Hotel who walked in forty-two years ago and is regarded as a mere newcomer, and in the Chinese store across the street on an evening you can see them weighing gold dust and little nuggets from the creeks as they did in the roaring, godless sixties.

DINNER TO-NIGHT would be good in the Barkerville inn—the old Chinese cook, or in the shopping house beside Lightning Creek, where you can see the women washing and drying their hair down to table in long white rubber boots. It would be good, too, down by the shores of Okanagan Lake, where a certain dirty Chinese eating joint serves the best fried chicken and the fattest asparagus at this season of the world holds record. Yet I should be hard put to it to choose between that and a dinner of trout, just half an hour out of Paul Lake, up Kamloops way and cooked as only Mrs. Scott can cook them, with two strips of crisp bacon across their tummies.

WELL, WELL, I had intended merely to issue a pious plea to British Columbians to holiday this year in British Columbia, and here I have dodged this whole column away, and made myself quite sad with longing to be off on the road. Before the summer is over you, too, will feel the same way, if you are human. And most likely, like me, you'll never reach half the places that you dream about. It is comforting, therefore, to realize that no place is half so pleasant in reality as it is in memory, in anticipation or in this column.

LADNER BRIDGE PLAN ARGUED AT OTTAWA

Cabinet Hears Statements For and Against Building Over Fraser River

New Westminster Objects, Claiming Bridge Would Be Menace to Navigation

Ottawa, May 13.—Additional evidence for and against construction of a bridge over the Fraser River, near Ladner, B.C., was heard today by the cabinet. The cabinet, which is now in session, is expected to decide whether the bridge should be built, but this decision is not expected to be made for some time.

Chief opposition to the project came from New Westminster. It was contended the bridge would be a menace to the navigation of the river and would endanger the investment of $1,000,000 made in port and wharf facilities.

TUNNEL SUGGESTED
Thomas Reid, M.P. for New Westminster, suggested the construction of a tunnel under the river.

Leon Launer, former member of Parliament, presented the case for the bridge company. He argued it would be no menace to navigation and would aid in developing the district. He said the bridge would be a link between the city and the river, and would be a link between the city and the river, and would be a link between the city and the river.

M.P.'S TOLD OF TRADE MISSION

Perley Addresses Commons on South America; King Urges Barriers Be Lowered

Ottawa, May 13.—The mission through the West Indies of the opening of the British Empire Trade Exposition at Buenos Aires, organized by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and in which the Canadian Manufacturers' Association co-operated, was brought up in the Commons yesterday afternoon. Sir George Perley, who was the official representative of the government on the mission, introduced the subject.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which is a very strong organization in this country, Sir George stated, and which had arranged missions to other parts of the world, had decided it would be advantageous to arrange a mission to various countries, stopping in the West Indies and reaching Buenos Aires the day before the opening of the exposition by the Prince of Wales. In this mission, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had co-operated and the Canadian National Association had also co-operated. At the visit, the Prince Robert had been used by the party.

OIL FLOWS INTO BASEMENT OF BANK BUILDING

Gloucester, N.S., May 13.—A miniature oil gusher made its appearance in the basement of the Bank of Nova Scotia building here today, when a small amount of oil was found to be flowing from a hole in the basement floor. The hole was found by a workman to-day who was excavating in an attempt to get at the foot of the trouble, the belief being that a lead from one of the gas fitting-stations in mid-town is responsible, though the theory of a Cape Breton oil field has also been raised.

ADVENTURES AMONG INDIANS ARE RELATED BY MISSIONARIES

Three Interesting Talks Given By Churchmen to Historical Association

Rev. W. H. Pierce, Rev. T. H. Wright and Rev. G. C. F. Pringle Are Speakers

The bloodthirsty habits of the early coast Indians, the peculiarities of the interior Indians and the mission work carried out among the logging camps along the coast, were described in three interesting addresses before a joint meeting of the B.C. Historical Association and the Historical Committee of the United Church Conference held in the Archives of the Parliament Building yesterday evening.

The speakers were Rev. W. H. Pierce of Port Essington, who has been associated with church work among the Indians for the greater part of his life, Rev. T. H. Wright of Hamilton, and Rev. G. C. F. Pringle, now pastor of Centennial Church in Victoria, who has spent many years in the Yukon and on a mission boat plying up and down the coast.

The address of Rev. Mr. Pierce was fascinating. His father, a Scotsman, was a member of the first of the famous old steamer Beaver. His mother was a native woman of Vancouver Island. The speaker told of the life of William Duncan, who was the first missionary, except for the Roman Catholics, on the British Columbia Coast. He told of the first gathering Mr. Duncan ever held at Port Simpson. The speaker was a boy of four years of age.

BRANDISHING SCALPING KNIFE
The little church-bell was ringing and the anger of a number of chiefs in the neighborhood who rushed to the scene of the small gathering and threatened the life of the brave missionary. The scalping man came forward and brandished his wicked-looking scalping knife. Mr. Duncan, who never moved an inch, but said firmly that he had come to do what God intended and therefore was in the hands of God.

After awhile the missionary conquered the chiefs and sent them away with tears in their eyes.
NEEDS A CHANGE
Sixty years ago, when still a young man, Mr. Pierce saw the need of a change in the tribes along the coast. They were inclined to be always fighting and trying to kill every man they got the best of the white man. He contradicted the impression that modern missionaries wasted their lives among the Indians when he said that the work was greatly appreciated by the natives. He said the modern Indians were greatly changed. They were smart and clever and just as quick to recognize a good sermon as was the native.

He pleaded with the churchmen not to send their worn-out missionaries, or those who had failed in a white community, to an Indian settlement.
IN SPEAKING of the early days when the white traders cheated the Indians, Mr. Pierce said: "I tell you white men are desperately wicked at times, but when he is good he is desperately good." Mr. Pierce exhibited an old hand-carved Indian paddle which was used in the early days to paddle the canoe from one place to another in the north. He also sang an old Indian paddling song, much to the delight of his audience.

IN THE INTERIOR
Rev. Mr. Wright of Hamilton gave an interesting talk on the interior Indians in the neighborhood of Hazelton. He spoke of the dedication of a church bell in an Indian village for which the ladies' auxiliary, known there as the Women's Christian Union, raised $2000 when the bell arrived from Toronto it was too large. After some alterations the bell was made to fit and duly the ladies, with much ceremony, it is reported, drew and now the church was filled every Sunday. Mr. Wright also spoke of the consecration of an Indian chief on Christmas Day, at which he was asked to officiate.

A modern church hall was recently opened in the district of Hazelton, and its opening was mentioned by Mr. Wright. It was designed by a native Indian who had no paper or pencil, but who made the plans in his head and kept them there while the building was under construction. It cost $50,000 and at its opening, much amusement was created by Mr. Wright's description of an Indian wedding when the bride and groom invited all their friends and then collected from them for the cost of the ceremony. At one wedding there were seven bridesmaids and everyone had a grand time.

ALONG THE COAST
Rev. Mr. Pringle, who is well known to Victorians as an entertaining speaker, told of the mission work conducted by the United Church of Canada, formerly the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches. The first mission boat was the Glad Tidings, commanded by Capt. William Oliver. After much good work she was wrecked on the northern coast of Vancouver in 1885. Then there was the Thomas Croesby, which was built in 1912. These two mission boats carried cheer, mercy and the Gospel to the many isolated communities along the coast. Much work was also done among the coast Indians. At that time, Mr. Pringle said, as far as could be estimated there were about 50,000 Indians in British Columbia, speaking eleven different tongues.

The Presbyterian Church started its mission work in 1908. There were many brave missionaries in the service, but to Alexander MacAulay, Mr. Pringle gave the place of honor among the Presbyterian missionaries. The work steadily advanced until the two churches joined their services and carried on together their splendid work among the coast settlements.

Mr. Pringle also spoke of his experiences when in charge of the Sky Pilot one of the coast's best-known mission boats. He told of the services conducted aboard at isolated logging camps, of the wild, lonely, and desolate scenery along on some errand of mercy and other interesting phases of his work, which proved most interesting to the gathering.

Rev. J. H. White of Esquimalt was chairman and introduced the three speakers. Mr. Justice Archer Martin, president of the Historical Association, welcomed the churchmen to the meeting and said how much valuable data the speakers' stories of the coast had provided for the Provincial Archives, which were always at the service of the missionaries.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

To the Editor:—I note in your issue of May 5 that the Department of Agriculture is announcing that Women's Institutes are not to receive the annual per capita grant at a saving of $1,600 per year. But why just the per capita tax which in accordance with the public accounts statements was $2,758.25, instead of the amount as formerly given? Why not go the whole way, and cut out the remainder of the annual expense, which is far more and taken up mostly with the payment of the superintendent of institutes and the consequent overhead.

The interesting and is tabulated as follows:
Salary of Mrs. MacLachlan, superintendent $1,600.00
Traveling expenses $1,120.00
Total $2,720.00
Besides sundry expenses to the tune of $1,875.68, making a total expenditure last year for women's institutes of $4,595.68.

I also note that the services to be continued to institutes include maintenance of the superintendent's office and salaries for special instructors. So in accordance with the government policy there is to be no lessening of public employees, nor cutting down of salaries.

Now, many of the older members of Women's Institutes throughout the province have thought for some time that the institutes would be far more effective and harmonious if they were entirely separated from the government's paternal influence. Would it not be better for all concerned if the institutes were to be independent of the government and to be able to retain that portion which holds in office overpaid individuals to the detriment of the funds needed in out-of-the-way districts.

At the last meeting of the southern Vancouver Island conference of Women's Institutes a resolution was passed that the institutes should be independent and that the government should not receive the help of speakers of the institutes. The resolution was adopted by a large majority. Where is the discrepancy?

"SAVE THE CHILDREN FUND"

To the Editor:—Once more we are asked to do what we can to help the suffering children of the world. It is not only the children of one country, but of many. And we are to have the privilege of hearing that wonderful man, Captain Grady, who has gone through much tribulation indeed, and the story of whose life is a most thrilling one—as one risen from the dead. After his capture and terrible experience he became the champion of the American children, but is now, as delegate of "Save the Children Fund" champion of the world's children. He expects to be here from May 14 to 17, and is ready to give addresses in public.

WORK ON RURAL HIGH SCHOOLS TO BE SPEEDED

Saanich Trustees Arrange to Build Two Four-room Schools at Once

Two four-room Saanich rural high schools, expected to cost $25,000 each, will be constructed to plans originally supplied the School Board by Hubert Savage, A.R.I.B.A., in November, 1929, for a four-room graded school which was not built. Mr. Savage yesterday evening accepted an offer from the board of supervision of the two structures, and will amend the plans to conform with high school requirements. The trustees adopted this policy to save the $222 already paid for the plans.

All members of the board declared themselves in support of speedy action, and expected that adoption of the existing plans would enable bids to be called immediately after May 25, with work proceeding by June 1.

TWO SIGHTS FIXED
The board has secured a firm offer of the C. F. Dawson property of five acres on Cedar Hill Road for use as a site for the school in the southeastern area. The opinion of J. W. Gibson, of the Department of Education, as to the suitability of sites near Giles Road in Ward Six, will be secured before the board finally selects the location of the northern school.

Considerable debate took place as to the portion of the Rowland property on Carey Road, to be purchased for the central high school. It was agreed that ten acres were unnecessary and that eight acres would suffice, in view of the smaller attendance caused by diversion of over 100 students to the two rural high schools. The board finally selected an area of eight acres at the corner of Trillicum and Carey Roads, the choice being opposed by Trustee Briggs on ground that part of the tract was too low.

SAANICH ARCHITECT
Selection of the architect for the Carey Road school will be limited to Saanich taxpayers, who will be asked to submit examples of schools they have erected and will be given opportunity to show pencil sketches of suggestions.

Because game birds have been so depleted in number the past few years, the United States imported more than 80,000 quail from Mexico during the past season.

ONE KILLED IN APRIL ACCIDENTS

One pedestrian was killed, one person was seriously hurt and seven others received slight injuries in Victoria automobile accidents last month, according to the chief's monthly report submitted to the police commission yesterday afternoon. A total of eighty-six cases of cars colliding was reported. Nineteen accidents to persons were reported to police and first aid was rendered in ten cases. The police patrol responded to 241 calls. In police court convictions totaling sixty-eight and fines aggregating $545 were collected.

SAANICH BOARD THANKS CHOIRS

School Teachers Voted Trustees' Appreciation; Children Congratulated

Delighted with the showing made by Saanich school choirs in the Victoria Musical Festival, the Saanich School Board yesterday evening passed a resolution congratulating the five prize winning choirs and thanking the teachers for their skillful training of the children.

Trustee Briggs remarked that, if the Saanich school choirs maintained the progress shown, it would not be many years before they would be victorious in all the competitions they entered. The prize winning Saanich choirs were: Cloverdale School, first for eighth grade and second place for third grade; Tofino School, first for seventh grade; Gordon Head School, first for two-room schools; McKenna Avenue School, first place among three, four and five-room schools.

WILLIAMS MAY RUN THIS YEAR

Careful Attention to Split Bone in Knee May Permit Champion to Race

May 10.—(Continued) rough tracks caused irritation of the old injury to Percy Williams' knee, it was claimed yesterday following an examination of X-ray photos. The injury consists of a chipped bone which affects the nerves in the knee joint and causes almost constant pain. Aside from the pain, Percy's running is not interfered with, providing he receives plenty of rest, he should be at least a contender for the Olympic title.

this year. The bone was first damaged in the Olympic trials at Brockton Point in 1928, the discovery being made following an X-ray made in Germany. Coach Bob Granger of the Olympic sprint champion, said that the injury came just as Percy was getting down to racing weight. He now weighs only 126 pounds, six pounds less than when he lost to Eddie Tolan at Hastings Park last year, and just about the same figure prevailing during the Olympics.

TRADE AGREEMENT PROPOSED

Canberra, May 13.—Hon. E. M. Forde, Minister of Trade and Customs, told the House of Representatives yesterday Australia had received proposals from France for a trade agreement between the two countries.

WHY EAT ROMAN MEAL IN SUMMER?

Why? For the same reason that one eats fruit. Both are alkaline and alkalize the blood, which keeps one fit on hottest days. Roman Meal is the only alkaline grain food, because it is a quarter flax-oil-lin. It also moves the bowels freely, preventing absorption of bowel poisons that depress and weaken on hot days. It need not be eaten hot. Eat it uncooked, as per recipe on package all the year round, which accounts for its popularity. It can also be served as hot-cold Brown-O, etc. (recipe on package), or as cold porridge with preserved or jellied fruits and cream or "cream substitute." Hot or cold, it is alkaline and keeps one up on hot days. Write for free sample and for free booklet, "HOW TO KEEP WELL," to ROBERT O. JACKSON, M.D., 1111 West 10th Ave., Toronto 2, Ont.

JONES LAUDS 1 PER CENT TAX

No One Should Begrudge It, Minister of Finance Tells Saanich Conservatives

27,000 Persons and 4,000 Families Aided By Government Last Year, He Says

Anyone who looks at the new one per cent B.C. tax on earnings in a reasonable way would never begrudge the small amount this entails on them, when they take into consideration all the social services and various forms of aid given by the Talmie Government, Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, told members of the Saanich Central Conservative Association at their meeting in the Campbell Building last evening.

Mr. Jones explained that 27,000 persons were aided in this province last year in addition to 4,000 families, and there was a sum of $1,350,000 spent to help unemployment, $850,000 for old age pensions, in addition to other charges.

The financial difficulties to be faced in British Columbia were enormous with the rapid increase in all social services, and the Talmie Government old age pensions and unemployment expenditure, all doubling in the last eight years.

PRIZE PREMIER TOLMIE
The able leadership of Dr. Tolmie in provincial matters has been a credit to the party ever since he took office, and he and his ministers deserve all credit for the way they are endeavoring to clear up the province into a more prosperous state than it has been, Mr. Jones went on.

He also praised Hon. R. B. Bennett, who he said, as Premier of Canada, was leading the country into more prosperous times.

As for T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, Mr. Jones said he did nothing but spoil and scold, and was entirely swayed by ulterior purposes, made statements altogether misleading, and never had anything of a constructive nature to offer. He declared the former government left nothing but an "unwholesome mass of financial stew" for the present government to clear up and get the sum off.

W. O. Wallace, president of the Saanich association, presided. The minister's address was followed by serving of refreshments.

TO-DAY COMMONS' LAST WEDNESDAY FOR PRIVATE BILLS AT THIS SESSION

ROGERS SPEAKS
First-hand information as to how the scheme worked during the war was given by Hon. Robert Rogers, Conservative, South Winnipeg, who was a fixed price of $2.21 was set, both by Canada and United States, he said. There had been unsupported rumors and indirect charges that members of the ministry of the day or the government itself had sold $50,000,000 or 75,000,000 bushels of wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange at prices above the set figure. Mr. Stevens said these innuendoes were false, but he believed the whole situation needed clarifying.

QUESTIONS ABOUT SURPLUSES
Correspondence written by Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Borden Government, was brought into the discussion by Dr. T. F. Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch, Sask., and John Vallance, Liberal, South Battleford, Sask. Sir George had admitted surpluses existing after the 1917 and 1918 crops were marketed, he said. How much were they and what had become of them? asked the prairie members.

The item before the House, $2,681,000, was stated to be required to meet expenses of management, operation, maintenance and equipment of elevators and general administration of the act.

Hon. H. H. Stevens said that in the war years "no member of the government nor the government itself handled a bushel of wheat that was not handled under the arrangement with the board, an initial payment was made to the farmers, then a participating certificate was issued. Some of these participating certificates were destroyed, but in other instances payments were made under the participating arrangement in addition to the initial payment received by the farmers. The result of the destruction of some of these participating certificates was that a sum of $467,000 was left in the hands of the board. Out of that amount, there were expenditures for seed grain, leaving a sum to-day of $175,000. In any case the sum was left over and was still held, but it was obvious a division of such sum among all the vendors of wheat would have been useless as the amount received by all the parties entitled to participate would have been extremely small to each one.

He did not think it would be wise to "embark on an exploration act." The chairman of the board was dead and the officials were scattered.

DONNELLY'S QUESTION
Situations regarding the 1919 crop was well understood by the farmers, said T. F. Donnelly, Liberal, Willow Bunch. It was the 1917 and 1918 crops that were in question. The farmers had never had any idea but the 1917 and 1918 crops had been sold at

DISCOVERED LAST YEAR
The Liberal government had not known until last year there had been a surplus, said Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture. The transaction in connection with the 1919 crop was well known. A sum in the neighborhood of $500,000 remained to be divided among the farmers after that crop had been sold. Mr. Stevens agreed to have the item stand until he had an opportunity to take the matter up with officials in his department.

CHINESE MARKET
Every effort was being made to secure the Chinese market for Canadian wheat, Mr. Stevens told the House. China, especially the northern provinces, offered an excellent market for Canadian grain and other products. This might not materialize in the immediate future but it was a good prospect. It depended largely on the return to stability of the country and general improvement in economic conditions.

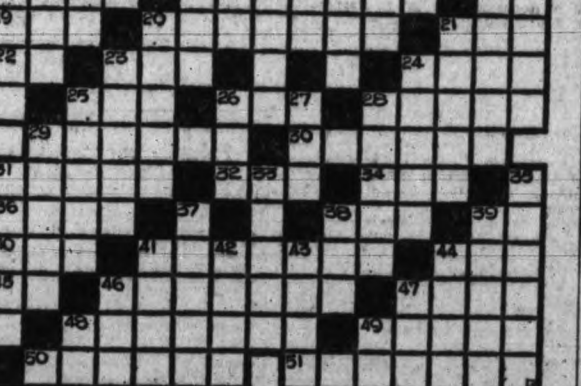

Deflation of Australian currency had enabled that country to overtake Canada in the Chinese wheat trade this year, said Mr. Stevens.

Although he had not the exact figures with him, the minister believed China, during the last crop year, had purchased 650,000 tons of wheat. Of that amount, Canada had sold 184,000 tons.

Under present purchasing power conditions of the Chinese, they were able to purchase abroad only at low prices, said Mr. Stevens.

J. S. MARTIN OF POULTRY FAME PASSES AWAY

Martin, his father being an Englishman and his mother, formerly Clara Strickler, a descendant of United Empire Loyalist stock who went to Ontario after the American War of Independence.

In 1899 his father brought "Jack" his first pure-bred chicken, light Brahma. Afterward he experimented with practically all breeds of chickens and his farm at Port Dover included numerous other breeds besides the poultry Wyandottes on which he specialized. Given his early education at Caladonia and Port Dover high schools, Mr. Martin enrolled at the University of Toronto in 1903, choosing as a specialty, following year he transferred to arts, following up with a term at the Ontario Normal School at Hamilton, where he graduated in 1908. He immediately returned to Port Dover to teach high school, moderns and classics. He was soon made principal of the school, only, however, for his early hobby, poultry breeding in general, and while Wyandottes in particular.

EXPORTED TO JAPAN
On his farm, Lakeview, Mr. Martin has an immense collection of cups, shields, bowls, medals and other trophies testifying better and more eloquently to the excellence of his White Wyandottes. In 1907, for instance, the poultry representative of the Japanese Government, the Boston show awarded Mr. Martin a handsome bronze vase in recognition of his showing of the best bird in the entire exhibition.

As a result the Japanese Department of Agriculture became one of Mr. Martin's best customers, and many individual Japanese followed suit. He has won prizes at the Sesquiennial Exposition at Philadelphia (practically all prizes in the classes of poultry for individual birds, and in which he entered went to him), and the first year he exhibited at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, in 1927, he took first, second, third and fourth for individual birds, and first, second and third for pens, exhibited. He won all the leading prizes at the New York State Fairs at Syracuse, and in 1926 was presented with a silver cup by the fair in recognition of his winning the White Wyandotte championship egg-laying contests and several other competitions.

The interest he took in his native countryside was always keen, although so many of his waking hours had become monopolized by his profession. For a number of years he was counsel for the Ontario Poultry Association, and later deputy mayor of the Norfolk County Council. He was chairman of the hydro commission, and in 1915 he was on the board of education, and he was a member of the Norfolk County Board of Trade. In 1922 and 1923 he was reeve of Port Dover, and in June of 1923 he ran in South Norfolk for the Ontario Legislature and was elected.

IMPROVED RELATIONS
As Minister of Agriculture his chief endeavors in the cabinet and on the floor of the House always were toward effecting better understanding between country and city. He also often emphasized the need for education among the farmers themselves, as for better methods and higher standards on the farm.

Mr. Martin was an Anglican, a member of the General Synod, an Odd Fellow and a Free Mason. In 1908 and 1909 he was president of the Canadian White Wyandotte Club and in 1910 and 1911 of the National Wyandotte Club, was a member of the executive of the American Poultry Association from 1915 on, was later on the board of directors of the same organization and later was chairman of the finance committee of the body.

He married Miss Lillian Elie of Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 16, 1909. There are no children.

MARLENE DIETRICH IN "DISHONORED" PLAYING AT DOMINION THEATRE

Marlene Dietrich is back at the Dominion Theatre for three days in a picture that is bound to startle film audiences even more than her original opus, "Morocco." The picture is "Dishonored," in which this surprising woman is cast as an Austrian spy in wartime, playing a reckless and dangerous game, spurred by a patriotic purpose, with love as the ever eminent threat to safety.

"Dishonored" is a brilliant story. It is said the facts were taken from the life adventure of one of the war's most glamorous woman spys.

"Dishonored" is the third Josef von Sternberg picture to feature "Morocco" and "The Blue Angel." With this trio has, particularly "Dishonored," he has clinched his claim to pre-eminence among screen directors.

REGINALD DENNY IS HEARD SINGING HERE ON CAPITOL PICTURE

Thousands of admirers of Reginald Denny will learn with surprise, when they see "Oh, For a Man!" that the star has a singing voice. Denny, in his earlier professional days, sang leading roles in seventeen light operas abroad.

He was compelled to sing, or at least attempt to sing, in this Fox movie production directed by Hamilton MacFadden, for his role is that of a burglar who has an ambition to sing and breaks into the apartment of a prima donna to steal her jewels, remains to try out his voice and to steal her heart.

Jennette MacDonald is the prima donna in this picture which is giving loads of real entertainment at the Capitol Theatre for the last times to-day.

LOS ANGELES SCHOOL BOYS MADE SHIPS IN PLAYHOUSE FEATURE

The recent craze for building miniature ship models simplified one of the odd-purchases that every now and then come before a student planning agent. In "Min and Bill," current at the Playhouse Theatre, some twenty ship-models of assorted types were needed to dress the set representing the old sailor's hotel on the waterfront. In former days, all these old hotels had ship models, but times have changed and to-day not many of them are to be found.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MRS. MILDRED ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

BOOMING, HUGGING ADULTS TERRIFY CHILDREN

The terrors of childhood, those inarticulate fears, are truly real and terrible. From the vantagepoint of age and experience adults can easily laugh at some of the reasonless fears. Too many adults do.

There is the thoughtless adult who, with a twinkle in his eye, pops the eyes of his youthful audience by some manufactured terror so ridiculous that he feels the child ought to know it could not be true. But how can children discriminate between the real and the imaginary? Everything about them is new and wonderful and full of magic, so the slightest tale gets as full of fear as if it were worthy of such.

FEAR GROWS IN BABYHOOD

Adults cannot see why children should ever fear other people, yet many children do show such fear. The chances are that their experiences with strangers have from babyhood been terrifying—men with booming voices, women with the hugging complex, squealing children who grab and embrace a baby to the point of real pain. The parents take these situations for granted. Stone by stone the baby builds up his edifice of fear. He hates strangers. He cries at the sight of them. All of this is just plain ridiculous to his mother and something she feels must be "cured."

Here is a grandmother whose grandchild is exhibiting these reasonless fears of strangers, even of relatives. She writes, "My six-year-old granddaughter just fights meeting anyone. Sometimes she won't even come near me. If her auntie comes, she hides her face. When her mother threatens to whip her, she cries, 'I'm afraid!'" "After a while she is all right and will speak to all. How can we overcome this? Coaxing, spanking, nothing helps as she does it again the next time anyone comes."

CHANGE TACTICS

Having admitted that these methods have done no good, be sensible and stop using them. Such methods serve only to increase the child's fear of strangers. All her experiences are unpleasant ones. Why should anyone be spanked or threatened a whipping for not speaking? It is no crime; it is worst a breach of etiquette. Children have no manners except those they learn by experience, and learning goes on apace if the experiences are always pleasant ones.

There is one way to help her. When strangers come, warn them beforehand to speak to the child as becomes an adult who knows the right thing to do. Then ignore her. There should be no compulsion to answer, no suggestion that it is even expected of her. No one bothers her, no one scolds her for not "being polite or nice," the whole atmosphere lacks strain.

Very soon this peacefulness will seep into her poor, frightened spirit. She will find the courage to speak in return. Then do not make the mistake of treating this bit of courage. Treat her casually. Accept what she has to offer without any comment. Pleasant experiences and the constant example of the good manner of others are needed to end her fear. It is quite up to you, no one else.

Ex-Wife of Canadian Race Horse Owner Sued For $250,000

New York, May 12.—A $250,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Jane V. Murchie, socially prominent Boston resident, against Mrs. Ethel Aldine Ross Murchie, former wife of Commander J. K. L. Ross, Canadian race horse owner, was revealed in Supreme Court yesterday when Justice Ingraham refused to dismiss the suit.

Guy Murchie, prominent Boston attorney, obtained a divorce from Mrs. Jane Murchie in Reno, March 17, 1930, after ten years of married life, and married the former Mrs. Ross, from whom the Commander recovered a $1,200,000 trust fund after he went bankrupt.

Mrs. Jane Murchie's complaint contends Murchie's divorce is not recognized in New York. She charges further that the second Mrs. Murchie persuaded her husband to leave her, that they went to Europe together before the divorce was granted and that the second Mrs. Murchie accompanied Murchie to Reno to get the divorce.

The second Mrs. Murchie contended on the other hand that neither she nor her husband were residents of New York, and that if any misconduct had been committed it had not been committed in this state. She further set forth that Murchie had given up his Boston residence and practice and had applied for admission to the Nevada Bar and that they intended to live in Reno.

The first Mrs. Murchie said she had spent $50,000 in obtaining evidence for her suit.

LABOR LAWS BEING EVADED

Montreal Women Seek to Better Conditions For Working Girls

Canadian Press
Montreal, May 12.—Side-stepping the requirements of the Women's Minimum Wage Commission, evasion of the law that requires commercial establishments to provide seats for employees behind counters, and the employing of persons with contagious diseases were conditions described by women in industry, commercial establishments and offices at the congress of the Federation Nationale St. Jean Baptiste held here recently.

One resolution adopted on the motion of Mrs. H. Gerin-Lajoie, president of the federation, was addressed to the Provincial Minister of Labor, calling for more thorough inspection.

MATTER OF ENFORCEMENT
Miss Robert, one of the speakers of the evening, said: "We have good labor laws; but it is all a matter of getting them enforced."

Mrs. Pierre F. Casgrain, a vice-president of the federation, spoke of the work of the Minimum Wage Commission on which she had served as a representative of the public at large. She declared that, although women's place par excellence was the home, yet economic conditions made realization of this impossible for large numbers.

The legislation that created the Women's Minimum Wage Commission in the province of Quebec, she noted, said that the third member might be a woman. In Nova Scotia, Ontario and Saskatchewan, the law said that of the five members, two must be women. She wished the Quebec law used the word "must" in connection with having a woman member.

The Minimum Wage law only applied to industries, although representations backed by Societe Ouvriere Catholique and the Trades and Labor Council had been made to the provincial government to have commercial establishments come into its scope also, said Mrs. Casgrain. The commission can establish minimum wages, but not minimum hours, and no stricter punishment for those who evaded the provisions of the law were advocated.

Jurisdiction of the commission should be extended to commerce, it should be able to regulate hours and a woman should be named to co-operate with it. These reforms, declared Mrs. Casgrain, required political action by women.

ARCHBISHOP AND VOTE

There is need for more complete instruction for young women, said Mother Ste. Anne Marie, dean of the Institut Pedagogique and member of the Catholic School Commission, at another session of the congress. "In some circles the idea of university training for girls had been ridiculed, she stated, yet the Pope had opened and blessed such an institution."

"Your sons will not love you less if you are better educated and have more knowledge than they," she emphasized. She bespoke complete co-operation between mothers and teachers.

Mrs. Georges Gauthier, coadjutor-archbishop of Montreal, extended his blessing to the congress, and congratulated the federation on the good work accomplished during its twenty-five years of existence.

Social and Catholic action must not be confused with political action, His Grace insisted. It was his opinion that women would gain nothing when they received the provincial vote, and he congratulated the federation for having omitted from the congress programme all political questions, and for that reason he forewent completed success for their activities.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Copyright, 1931, by NEA Service, Inc.

There is nothing that makes a household run so smoothly as starting the day right, and starting the day right means getting up early.

Early to bed and early to rise does not mean men, or women, wealthy, but it shows wisdom to start with, and it certainly makes everybody healthier and happier.

Children of parents who get up late usually go to school demoralized for the entire day. Half dressed, a swallow or two of unchewed food, running the whole way for fear of being tardy—what child can possibly be in a calm or receptive state of mind under such conditions?

True, there may be someone to get them up on time, to cook a decent breakfast and all that, but here another factor enters into the matter—example. A child must wonder what sort of world it is that lays such hard and fast rules for his getting about early, while his father and mother are still snoring in a shaded room into which he dares not venture.

HOME SCHEDULES CHANGE
It never used to be so but in recent years when 10 o'clock seems to be the beginning of an evening instead of the end, and bridge parties do not break up until the wee hours of the morning, the natural thing has occurred. Getting-up time has moved forward, too, and it is the commonest thing in the world for mothers to sleep until noon.

If it seems like a rather stiff arrangement of young parents let me say this please—they are not so much to blame as they seem. Custom has us all in its clutches and this modern mode of getting into bed and out of it at any or all of the twenty-four hours of a day is a contagious epidemic. It is in the air. We have just one respect for a safe and sane bedtime.

Grove's Pitching Gives Champions Victory Over Sox

Repeat Showing of Last Two Years by Leading League After Early Season Slump; Simmons and Fox Hit Well in 5 to 2 Win Yesterday; Hurlers Show Form; Brandt Pitches Braves to 4 to 2 Win Over Cincinnati

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

If the 1931 baseball season follows the pattern set by two previous years, the Philadelphia Athletics are due to win their third straight American League pennant. Twice in succession the A's started badly and then breezed through to the championship. This year they were off to a bad start again.

In 1929, Philadelphia required five weeks to get into first place but never was ousted. Last year, the A's dropped as low as fourth early in the season, climbed back to the top in May, dropped out again to regain the post on June 1 for all but two days of the remainder of the season. This season they have had plenty of troubles but finally are back in their accustomed place at the top of the standing.

BALL PITCHER MAKES JUMP TO DISCOVER FEAR

Tries Parachute Leap; Now Vieing With Art Shires as Diamond Chatterer

Canadian Press
Toronto, May 13.—Arthur "Whitman" Shires' kingdom has been invaded. The bombastic Milwaukee first baseman no longer rules monarch of the diamond's linguists.
Last Saturday Toronto citizens were startled when a heavy, hunky, earnest leaper from an airplane at high altitude, announcing he had taken the jump to discover what fear was. This amazing young man announced his name was Herbert Stanley McIntyre and that Verdun, Manitoba, was where he first saw the light of day.
Yesterday a good deal more was learned of Herbert. This information was divulged to Steve O'Neill, obliging manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League. It was to the effect McIntyre formerly heaved tantalizing outbursts onto the shoulders of Winnipeg, which the batters seldom saw and that only last week he had interviewed Frank Navin, owner of the Detroit Tigers, in an effort to make a place on the major league American League team's hurling corps.

TILDEN STROKES OUT SECOND WIN OVER RICHARDS

Boston, May 13.—Bill Tilden's aggressive play gave him his second victory over Vincent Richards in their professional title series yesterday evening before 9,000 spectators at the Boston Garden. Richards forced his former Davis Cup partner to the five-set limit before Tilden gained the match by scores of 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-3.
Again Richards' downfall was traced to his failure to control his first service ball and his inability to play his favorite net game. Richards' rushes generally willed under Tilden's terrific cross court placements, most of which landed safe, or an inch inside the lines. Although the point score indicated the closeness of the play, 121 for Tilden and 115 for Richards, Big Bill's racket was the strongest at almost every point. His famous cannonball delivery was exceptionally accurate, and he gained most of his points off his service or on vicious backhand smashes to the back court.
Francis T. Hunter rounded J. Emmet Pare, former national clay court titleholder, 6-4, 6-3, in the opening match, and the New Rochelle, N.Y., publisher after the feature double victory over Richards and Bobby Sells, former California champion.

JAPANESE WIN TWILIGHT BALL GAME 11 TO 8

Scoring nine runs in the second inning, Tokyo, local Japanese ball nine, downed the Automobiles in yesterday evening's Twilight Baseball League game at the Royal Athletic Park. The score was 11 to 8.
The wildness of Ed Miles, losing pitcher, started the avalanche of hits and runs in the second and led to his exit in favor of H. Hubbard. The game went six innings and Pitcher M. Ashikawa had a tough time stemming a determined Automobiles' rally in the last inning. With the score 11-2 against them, the losers found their stride, and before the game was called had registered six runs.
Score by innings:
Automobiles 2 0 0 0 6 6
Tokyo 0 9 0 1 1 11
Batteries—Miles, H. Hubbard and A. Hubbard; M. Ashikawa and M. K. Kuwabara. Umpire, Simpson.

Champions Are Recognized By European Body

Brussels, May 13.—The European International Boxing Union, meeting here yesterday, recognized Max Schmeling of Germany as the world's heavyweight champion and voted to recognize the projected bout between him and Young Stribling, the American heavyweight, as for the championship. They rejected the projected match between Jack Sharkey and Primo Carnera for any championship.
They named "Mick" as "other" champions as: Light heavyweight, Maxie Rosebloom; middleweight, Yasanti; welterweight, Jack Thompson; lightweight, Tony Capozzi; featherweight, Bat Battalino; bantamweight, Al Brown; flyweight, Frankie Genaro. All are Americans.
Victory Little, head of Automobiles, was named as the champion of the Automobiles in the Twilight Baseball League.

Wilkinson scored 18 and A. Gillespie 16. Among the Victoria bowlers, Wilkinson got five wickets, Goward three and G. C. Grant two. For Cowichan, G. G. Bais and E. C. EX-POLICE HEAD ASKS REFERENCE

Two Police Commissioners "Don't Know Him Well Enough," They Say

After discussing for ten minutes whether or not it would give a character reference to Ex-Chief of Police John Fry, the Board of Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon tabled the matter until its next meeting.

Mayor Ansonb felt there was a moral obligation to give the ex-chief a reference since he had served the city for nearly twenty-eight years but he was opposed by the other two commissioners.

"And what's more, Mr. Fry gets $121 a month superannuation from the city. If he takes another position with pay this should be stopped," said Commissioner Dorothy North.

"I don't really know much about the former chief," said Commissioner Andrew McGavin. "I don't suppose I've talked to him more than half a dozen times. He suggested the ex-chief could get a reference from the mayor but the mayor felt he should have the support of the full board in such an action."

NO ILL-FEELING

"I've got no ill-feeling toward the former chief but I don't know him well enough," said Commissioner North.

"I'm in the same position," said Commissioner McGavin.

"Well, it's rather a serious thing to refuse him a reference unless there has been a specific charge against him. He asks for a character reference not a testimonial as to ability," the mayor replied.

Commissioner McGavin then moved the matter be tabled to the next meeting and this was done.

BETTER PRAIRIE MARKET FOR B.C.

Director of Markets, Back From Trip, Sees Improvement This Year

Improvement of British Columbia's market for fruit on the prairies this year was forecast by W. W. Duncan, director of markets, on his return from a trip to the middle western provinces where he investigated conditions.

British Columbia producers, he said, should immediately take steps to develop early varieties of produce in quantities which would supply the market requirements. Openings in head lettuce, asparagus, spinach, cauliflower and similar vegetables were presented.

Sales of B.C. rhubarb have increased considerably, Mr. Duncan said. Quality and prices will probably determine the movement of strawberries to a great extent, although it is expected the normal movement will be absorbed. Loganberries have an increased demand, especially in the form of wine.

In conclusion, he reiterated the statement that B.C. farmers have a lucrative market on the prairies if they will take adequate steps to ensure quality produce at the right season.

Sooke

The monthly meeting of the Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute was held in the Sooke Hall on Friday afternoon, May 8, with the president, Mrs. G. H. Jones, in the chair.

Business included reading of the financial statement of the "gingham" dance held May 2. It was decided to ask Nurse Kelly of Colwood to address the June meeting. Arrangements were made to hold a dance in Charter's Hall on June 4. Mrs. F. Gray being appointed convener. The meeting decided to hold a military five hundred and dance in the Sooke Hall on Saturday evening, May 16. Mrs. W. Cairns and Mrs. R. Kirby to be in charge. Plans were made for the June meeting to take the form of a cup, saucer and plate shower to augment the present supply of dishes of the institute. Mrs. H. Wanders moved the meeting adjourn, and refreshments were served by Mrs. M. A. Clark and Mrs. J. Doran.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Holy Trinity Church to the M.S.O.C. will be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 13, at the home of Mrs. Frothero, Sooke River Road.

Mrs. W. Arden has returned to her home in Metichosin after spending some time in Sooke as a guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cairns.

E. W. CLARK DIES

Los Angeles, May 12.—E. W. Clark, seventy-four, chairman of the board of the Union Oil Company and one of the outstanding figures in the oil industry, died early yesterday evening of heart disease in a physician's office here.

TRAFFIC RULE CHANGES MADE

Changes in the streets traffic and regulations by-law and minor alterations in parking regulations were approved by the police commission yesterday afternoon.

One deals with the solicitation of persons for rides in sightseeing cars and taxis, preventing distribution of handbills or of word of mouth to induce people to ride, except in hotel buses.

Another calls for prohibition of parking on the west side of Fernwood Road between Vining and Pembroke Streets and on the north side of Humboldt from Gordon to Government. These were recommended by the chief of police.

Placing of a danger signal at the intersection of Humboldt and Blanshard Streets and the marking of forty-five degree angle parking spaces on the west side of Douglas Street, between Fort and Yates Streets, the south side of View between Douglas and Broad, and the east side of Douglas, between Johnson and Herald was decided.

Two Italian scientists here found that even silkworms work better to radio music. The waves make them spin more silk, it is said.

"FORWARD WITH CANADA"
The Dominion Rubber Company is proud to be in step with this progressive movement.
W. A. Eden, President.

MOST makes of tires are stronger than they were two or three years ago . . . they have to be to stand up under the gruelling punishment of today's harder driving.

But remember this important fact . . . the modern Dominion Royal is 18 per cent stronger than any other!

What does this mean to YOU? It means that Dominions on your car will give you greater mileage and less trouble. It means that Dominions have a big margin of extra strength to endure road shocks . . . to withstand curb and deep-rut abrasion . . . to endure the strain of sudden stops . . . to resist the scorching heat of high speeds.

Your car deserves these stronger Dominion Tires . . . and the added protection of Dominion Inner Tubes. Here is a combination of strength and dependability that will relieve your mind of all tire trouble . . . and enable you to enjoy thousands of care-free miles.

18 per cent extra strength represents 18 per cent greater value . . . but Dominions cost you no more than ordinary tires. Buy Dominion quality!

Empress of Canada Only Four and Half Days From Honolulu

Breaks All Other Records for Voyages From Yokohama to Honolulu, and Then From Honolulu to Victoria; Averaged 21.47 Knots All the Way Here From Hawaiian Islands; Brought in 580 Passengers and 376 Bales of Raw Silk for Victoria

Giving her faster sister-ship, the Empress of Japan, something to aim at next month, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada arrived at Hithet pier this morning at 10.45 o'clock after making two new records for the trans-Pacific voyage from the Orient. She called at Honolulu on the way across and created a new time for the lap from Yokohama to Honolulu and another record for the lap from Honolulu to Victoria, making the last stretch in four days, twelve hours and twenty-one minutes, which is at least thirty hours faster than this trip has ever been done before.

STIFF HEAD WINDS. Capt. A. J. Halley, R.N.R., commander of the big liner, reported a good voyage all the way from Yokohama, which port was left on May 2. On the way here from Honolulu the ship ran into stiff head winds which held her back a little, or probably she would have still further broken the record. The average speed, all the way from Diamond Head, where full speed ahead was rung, to Race Rocks, where the huge engines were slowed down at 9.18 o'clock this morning, was 21.47 knots.

The Empress of Canada wrestled all speed honors from United States and Japanese vessels on the run from the Yokohama to Honolulu by steaming the 3,579 miles in six days, eleven hours and thirty minutes. She arrived at Honolulu early last Friday morning and left for Victoria at 6.57 o'clock in the afternoon. Her entire steaming time from Yokohama to Victoria was only ten days, twenty-three hours and fifty-two minutes.

Besides creating a new record the Empress of Canada carried a large passenger list and a valuable parcel of general Oriental freight. There were 580 passengers in all classes, including 2,797 tons of general cargo and 376 bales of mail.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, May 13.—Mason South Sea and Australian liners will continue to make San Francisco their home port, Wm. P. Roth, president, said yesterday, refuting rumors the company would transfer its home to Los Angeles.

The Williams Line freighter Wilfrido stuck on a mud bank in the Oakland outer harbor yesterday. The holds are full and the decks loaded with lumber, causing her to draw about twenty-two feet. She is expected to float to-day at high tide.

A five-day week, affecting officials as well as employees on shore duty, will be effective on the Dollar Lines May 15. Employees were notified to-day.

TO TAKE EXCURSION TO SEATTLE ON SATURDAY

which will take her annual excursion to Seattle and return on Saturday of this week. This palatial coast liner will sail from the Belleville Street wharf at 9 o'clock in the morning and will make the trip to Seattle in three hours.
Five hours will be given for sightseeing and shopping in the Puget Sound metropolis and the Princess Kathleen will arrive back in Victoria about 9 o'clock in the evening. As this is the only day of the year in which Victorians will have an opportunity to make a return trip on this fine liner, it is expected more than 1,000 people will be aboard when the ship sails on Saturday.

TOUR PARTIES NEARLY READY

Two For Europe and One For Orient Will Depart From Victoria This Summer

The time is drawing near for the departure of Victoria of three tour parties, one bound for the Orient and the other two for Europe. The party which Mrs. Eleanor Palmer of Victoria is leading across the Pacific is proving attractive, and when this group sails from Vancouver on the N.Y.K. motor-ship Hiyama Maru, there will be about fifteen persons in the party. Mrs. Palmer plans taking her party through Japan and China and this year will go down into the Philippine Islands. Arrival home at time for September.

The return voyage will also be made on the Hiyama Maru.

The European tour party which Dr. Glenn Davies will lead, will leave Victoria in time to board the steamer St. Albert at New York on July 9. The ship will take the party direct to Naples and from there the party will travel inland to Rome, Venice, Vienna, Prague, Berlin, Amsterdam, Brussels, Paris and London. Return to Canada will be optional and members of the party will be able to remain over in Europe for several months after the tour terminates in London.

Several Victoria teachers plan to make the B.C. teachers' tour, which is being organized by the Canadian Tourist Bureau in conjunction with the Canadian National Railways, and which will be conducted by Mrs. Dillworth principal of Victoria High School and president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation. The party will leave Vancouver on June 28 and will return August 28, sailing both ways on the Atlantic about the Cunard liner Lusitania. Eight days will be given in London, before a tour of the Lake district will take the party into Scotland, Brussels, Cologne, Mayence, Lucerne, Geneva and Paris are among the places to be visited on the continent.

Cutworm Menace Looms On Prairie Wheat Belt

Grain prices eased to-day, following yesterday's culminating upturn.
Winnipeg, May 13.—Grave fear is expressed that the cutworm evil will reach menacing proportions on the prairie this season. The Journal of Commerce to-day says: "If weather conditions are normal, the pest will make its appearance about May 15. Government experts explain that any fields which were harrowed, grazed, cultivated or had a loose dusty surface from August 1 to September 15, 1930, are liable to have cutworms this season. That description applies probably to one-fourth of the wheat growing section of the west."

Canadian intentions to plant show a decrease of about 8 per cent in spring wheat.
Broomhall report to-day says Melbourne reports further excessive rains in Australia and the outlook for early crops as not good. The rain is reported to have stopped sowing.

Liverpool wheat was firmer to-day with increased demand and continental buyers re-entering the market.
"It is said that any important advance would bring increased selling, while a break would encourage new buying in wheat," The Chicago Tribune to-day says. "Foreigners have done light buying of wheat of late, but it was said any good decline would bring them into the market again, especially the continent."

Latest reports from Winnipeg indicate that seeding of wheat will be completed by the end of this month and that unless there are good rains to give the crop a healthy start throughout June a bullish market might develop."

Open interest in May corn at the close on Monday was about 4,500,000 bushels. The market is showing congestion and it is not so easy to buy. The grade is getting more and more into the July and September and December is receiving fair attention.

Germany was credited with buying 1,500,000 bushels in Winnipeg.
"Wheat traders have been attracted by the upturn in the price, because the latter is frequently an indicator of market trend," The Journal of Commerce to-day says. "It is realized that wheat is relatively cheaper than wheat and that farm stocks of wheat are also showing a new low level in the west and that there is a rather critical moisture condition exists."

"The wonderful winter wheat prospects appear to be the principal discouraging factor at present. There is less fear that Farm Board stocks of wheat will be dumped."

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, May 13.—Wheat — The market was quite firm throughout to-day's session, although prices were little changed during the first period, when only a small trade was passing, with overnight export sales reported as small. Around mid-session, some excellent buying of Winnipeg July and September being made. This class of spreading is based on the dry conditions in western Canada and the excellent outlook for the winter wheat crop in the U.S. and more of it is likely to develop if good rains are not received in this country shortly.

The weather is clear and warm in the west to-day and will likely continue, according to the weather forecast. Not much attention was paid to the estimate of the Dominion Government that acreage in Canada would be reduced about seven per cent, this year, as this was generally anticipated. While there was very little evidence of export business out of a large private elevator company, the amount being taken was estimated at 1,600,000 bushels and was understood to be spreading the same amount of sales of Chicago September being made. This class of spreading is based on the dry conditions in western Canada and the excellent outlook for the winter wheat crop in the U.S. and more of it is likely to develop if good rains are not received in this country shortly.

The demand for cash wheat in the local market was quiet. Reports from southwest were favorable and a bumper winter wheat crop appears to be almost assured, but still has a long way to go before maturity. Feel friendly to wheat until good rains are received. Winnipeg futures closed one-quarter to three-eighths lower.

Coarse Grains—These markets were all firm most of the day, but the late weakness in wheat was reflected in the coarse grains and prices eased off. The local trade was rather quiet and featureless and there was very little doing in the cash market.

Oats closed unchanged to half lower; barley one-quarter higher to three-quarters lower; rye three-quarters lower.

Flax—Dull and featureless, holding steady and closing one-eighth up to one-quarter lower.

N. Y. Market Analysis

The Wall Street Journal to-day says:

"Traders who have been identified with bull groups in the past are showing more caution than in some time. This is the result of the unprofitable group operations which were started in a number of stocks on several occasions in the past. Those directing the movement have been unable to attract much of a following and when they have completed buying and attempted distribution it was found that the demand was lacking, leaving the pool to get out as best possible under the circumstances."

"There is a feeling that the market will be more and more selective during periods of dullness. Prospective buyers, those who have been on the sidelines for some time, are giving more study and attention to the affairs of various companies than ever before. Apparently they are preparing for the future and traders as well as outsiders who could buy stocks want something more than manipulation as a basis for an upward movement."

"When the upturns are due exclusively to technical conditions within the market itself it is probable that all issues will move ahead because of short covering or other influences. However, the issues which have nothing more than a short interest to recommend them, will react as soon as covering is completed, while those with good prospects can extend their gains."

"Greater importance is being attached to the fact that loans to non-brokers in the last two weeks recorded an increase of $38,000,000, while borrowings by brokers dropped $145,000,000. These so-called outside loans are believed to represent the financing of purchases by the banks for important interests because only responsible persons can get large loans from the banks for the carrying of securities particularly in view of the action of the market in the past. Conservative observers insist that the market has not yet displayed ability to move ahead for a good advance, and for that reason they are still keeping clients on the sidelines. They favor accepting profits and reducing long positions on all rallies."

Would Set Silver Price At 50 Cents

Washington, D.C., May 13.—Temporary fixing of the price of silver at 50 cents an ounce by international agreement will be proposed to-morrow to Secretary of State Stimson by Senator King, Democrat, Utah.

The senator discussed his plan to-day with Under-Secretary of State Castle and will take the question up to-morrow with the state department chief. The "pegging" of the silver price, King said after the conference, could be held to solve the silver question.

Senator King urged a conference be called by the United States and told the Under-Secretary that in view of the favorable attitude shown at the recent meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce toward some solution of the silver question, the United States Government should assume that an international conference on the subject would be called and should be as its future actions and policies on such an assumption.

The senator said he believed a silver ratio, possibly twenty to one, would eventually have to be worked out.

According to the daily computation of A. E. Ames & Co. Limited, the average yield of Dominion of Canada bonds continued to decline during April. In the above chart, yields have been converted to the equivalent price of a twenty-five year 4 1/2% bond to show the movement of bond prices.

WORKING CAPITAL SUPPLIES LARGE

New York, May 13.—The salient features of the December 31, 1931, balance sheets of the thirty industrial corporations used in the computing of the Dow Jones Industrial average, were the relative large amounts of working capital held by these corporations, in the opinion of Dean Witter & Company, investment house.

RETAIL SALES

Ottawa, May 13.—Total value of retail sales in Canada increased substantially in March, according to the index of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The index, based on January, 1929, as 100, rose to 99 in March from 88.7 in February. The calculation is founded on reports from thirty-five chain stores and twenty-five department stores.

SILVER UP ONE-EIGHTH

New York, May 13.—Bar silver, steady and higher at 39 1/8.

Stocks of Copper Still Increasing Despite Low Price

New York, May 13.—Stocks of refined and blister copper in North and South America increased 8,781, short tons during April figures released to-day by the American Bureau of Metal Statistics disclosed. This increase is in spite of the record low price now at 3 cents a pound.

Total stocks as of May 1 were 581,797 short tons, compared with 558,016 as of April 1. The May 1 total, however, showed a decline from the 569,853 tons as of March 1. Stocks of refined copper only amounted to 387,921 tons May 1, compared with 384,205 tons April 1 and 383,828 tons March 1. April production of refined copper fell to 100,501 tons, compared with 102,058 tons in March and 124,831 tons in April of 1930. Shipments during April amounted to 86,765 short tons against 111,463 tons in March and 79,213 tons in April last year.

SUGAR PACT TERMS

Brussels, May 13.—The Chadbourne sugar restriction plan assigns export quotas to each of the signatory countries and provides that when the price of sugar reaches 2 cents a pound for Cuba the quotas will be increased 5 per cent. This would mean about $25,000 tons in the aggregate for the seven signatories.

A permanent international sugar council is created which has an option, whenever the price reaches 2 1/4 cents, to increase the export quota 2 1/2 per cent. If the price of sugar reaches 2 1/2 cents after the control committee has availed itself of that increase option, the export quota shall be increased another 2 1/2 per cent.

If, however, the committee had not made the increase when the price reached 2 1/4 cents, it shall be required, when the price reaches 2 1/2 cents to increase the export quota a full five per cent.

No other increases are obligatory during any of the five years for which the contract is made.

N.Y. Market Gossip

Detroit.—The motor industry is approaching the middle of May with rate of production undiminished. In general, the current month's output is expected to be slightly higher than in April and this level has been maintained to date with a few companies making further advances. It now appears reasonably certain that the May output will exceed that of April when production in United States and Canada totalled 348,909 cars and trucks.

United States Dairy Products declared quarterly dividend $1.25 on the class A common, payable June 1, record May 20.

London Stock Market remains idle as there is a lack of public support. Home rails continue lower with many touching new lows. Total depreciation of four main groups of common and preferred stocks now show over $200,000,000.

Order given for 3,500 tons of steel to be used in erecting the new Mellon Institute of Industrial Research. Daily average production of crude oil in United States week ended May 9 totalled 2,371,088 barrels, off 109,662 barrels, according to Oil and Gas Journal.

Paramount Public declared 6 1/2% cents quarterly dividend on common, placing stock on $20 annual basis, against $4 previously.

Pure Oil Company and subsidiaries in year ended March, 1931, earned 18 cents a common share, versus $1.21 in preceding year.

General Motors April consumers sales in United States 34 per cent above March to 135,063 cars; year ago increase was 15 per cent to 152,004 cars.

Briggs Manufacturing Company first quarter earned 2 cents a share, against 38 cents a year ago.

REVIVAL DELAY IS AScribed TO VARYING PRICES

Narrower Disparity Between Various Values Held Up-Turn Need

New York, May 13.—The widening spread between the prices of raw materials and the values placed upon finished goods considerably modifies the testimony offered by various other indicators that business experienced a definite upturn during the first quarter, the Bureau of Business Conditions, Alexander Hamilton Institute, to-day declared in a survey of the commodity price decline and its relation to recovery in general business.

"Full assurance that business is definitely on the road to recovery," the review points out, will not be warranted until this spread between commodity prices begins to narrow. The reason for the necessity of such a development is that business can not make any appreciable progress without the support of the farmers and other raw materials producers. An improvement in their purchasing power will not come until the goods which they sell begin to be worth more in terms of the goods which they buy.

TREND IN '21 STRESSED

"In 1921 business did not begin to show a definite upward trend until the spread between raw material prices and finished goods values began to narrow. The restoration of a satisfactory relationship between commodity prices was accomplished then by a recovery of raw material prices and by a further dealing in the prices of finished goods. Finished goods prices did not start to recover until the distorted relationship was entirely rectified."

"An upturn in prices of raw materials will occur when production is curtailed sufficiently to threaten the adequacy of the supply needed to meet those requirements which have not been affected by the depression. Curtailment of the output of raw materials is now in progress, but heavy stocks of such commodities as cotton, wheat, coffee, rubber, tin, copper, lead and zinc still on hand furnish evidence that such curtailment has not yet brought about the necessary adjustment."

PROSPECTS NOT BRIGHT

"The prospect is consequently not bright for an immediate recovery. Yet it is possible that raw material prices will not show any great further decline. Stabilization, without recovery would be a long step in the right direction because the spread between raw material prices and finished goods prices would immediately begin to be narrowed by the downward trend of finished goods."

NEWS SERVICE

VOTE DEBATED BY COMMONS

House Hears Opposition, But Approves $2,050 For Reuter's Service

Ottawa, May 13.—"I do not know if Reuter's have any corporate relations with the Canadian Press, but the relations are cordial," declared Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, in the Commons yesterday, after the House, in committee of supply, was considering an item of $2,050 for "British and foreign service," which was carried after some discussion.

Outlining the service rendered for that sum, Mr. Stevens said Reuter's News Agency was under contract with the government to send 10,000 words monthly by cable to Great Britain and other countries of the world, dealing with Canadian trade matters. In addition it furnished a mail news service.

From his examination of the operation of Reuter's, the minister had found it to be "useful and valuable service to Canada."

NOT CANADIAN COMPANY
Asked by R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B., if Reuter's was a Canadian company, Mr. Stevens replied in the negative. He doubted if there was a Canadian company equipped to render the same service, which was a company a great many years to build up a service equal to that rendered by Reuter's.

"Have you any relations with the Canadian Press?" asked Mr. Hanson.
Mr. Stevens replied as above.

NOT PROPAGANDA
Mr. Stevens said there was nothing in the nature of propaganda sent out. While the department did not edit the dispatches, the officers of the department kept in touch and there was a general oversight. The service was wider than could be provided by the $23,000 vote, which was merely a subsidy.

Answering C. R. McIntosh, Liberal, North Battleford, Sask., he stated the terms of the contract specified this news should go to the British Empire, although these reports frequently went to other countries.

URGED TO DROP IT
"A few years ago," Hon. J. D. Chaplin, Conservative, Lincoln, Ont., declared, "we had another news service in this same vote. It had carried on for the last fifteen years to my own personal knowledge. A couple of years ago, owing to attacks made on it in this House, it was abandoned. I think it is pretty nearly time to abandon this. . . . I am not afraid to attack the item, because I think it should be abandoned just for the same reason as the Associated Press was abandoned."

"I would like to move the vote be reduced to one dollar," said Hon. Peter Veniot, Liberal, Gloucester, N.B., "to give the member of Lincoln a chance to vote against his own party."

At this point a Liberal member asked who had been Minister of Trade and Commerce in 1926 when the contract was renewed.
Mr. Stevens said Mr. Chaplin had been, and the contract had been renewed for two months.

"If we were to cancel the contract as I am now," said Mr. Chaplin, "I refused to extend it beyond the possible life of the government, and had I been in office after the election, it would not have continued it. As a matter of fact, the service rendered Canada is not worth a plugged nickel."

The item then passed.

To the Holders of WAR LOAN AND VICTORY BONDS

A Statement by the Minister of Finance

IN THE dark days of the War, Canadians loaned to the Government of the Dominion many hundred millions of dollars to enable the operations of the Allies to be carried to a successful conclusion.

When Canadians loaned their money to the Government, they received bonds which were promises to repay them the sum loaned with interest at the rate of 5% or 5 1/2% per annum. On the 1st of October next, $53,000,000 of these bonds become due; on the 1st of November, 1932, the maturity will be $73,000,000; on the 1st of November, 1933, $446,000,000; and, in 1934, $511,000,000 must be provided for.

It would not be prudent, either in the interest of the security holders or the country itself, to wait until these loans become due before providing for their payment or conversion. Action must be taken well in advance of the due dates to protect the credit of the country. The Government believes this an opportune time to afford Canadians the opportunity to exchange the bonds, which they own maturing in the next few years, for new bonds of the Dominion of Canada carrying interest at the rate of 4 1/2% per annum, which is a very attractive return. Prior to the maturity date of the present bonds, those who accept this offer will, of course, continue to be paid interest at the rate as provided by the bonds they exchange.

Canadians who have always shown confidence in their country are earnestly invited to exchange the bonds they now own for bonds of the new issue. By so doing, they will render less difficult the task of providing for the future finances of the country, will enhance its credit and will greatly assist the Government in the present period of worldwide readjustments.

No money will be asked for and no new bonds will be sold at this time. It is proposed to limit the present conversion to $250,000,000, but the Government has the right at its discretion to increase the amount if Canadians indicate a general desire to continue their investments in the securities of their Dominion. The subscription books will close on the 23rd of May.

I earnestly seek the active support of my fellow Canadians in making this conversion, which is one of the largest financial operations our country has undertaken in recent years, creditable alike to Canada and its citizens.

Murder Backstairs

ANNE AUSTIN
AUTHOR OF
"THE POWER OF THE BLACK PIGEON, ETC."

"Then will you take particular notice to-morrow morning—both of you—and report to me if there is such an odor from a drain pipe?" Dundee asked, with his friendliest smile, reinforced by a $5 bill for each of the girls. "And don't mention to anyone—not even District Attorney Sherwood or Captain Strawn—that we've had this little talk."

"A slim chance, but one that I couldn't afford to overlook," he said to himself as he left the butler's study and turned toward the drawing-room.

Five minutes later he accompanied George Berkeley to the library and closed the door. "Please forgive me, Mr. Berkeley, for calling you away from your bridge game," he began, "but there is a question I must ask you."

"I thought the district-attorney had taken over the case," George Berkeley retorted stily.

"It is Mr. Sherwood's privilege to investigate any case for his own office, but he cannot ask the police to abandon their own lines of inquiry," Dundee explained courteously. "He paused, groping for words with which to frame a question, so that it would indicate the possession of knowledge which he did not possess at all."

"Mr. Berkeley, when you went upstairs about 10:30 Friday night, to say good-night to Ogi and possibly console her, did you see or encounter anyone at all on the second floor?"

"The multimillionaire fell into the trap," he said, "no one on my way to my daughter's room, but when I was leaving I saw Wickett emerging from my wife's sitting-room."

Dundee concealed his exultation. Not by the flicker of an eyelid must he betray to George Berkeley that not until this moment had he known of the visit to Ogi's room. The trap had been laid upon the flimsiest foundations—merely a long-delayed recollection of the fact that when he had returned to the drawing-room Friday night, he had found a phone call to police headquarters. Berkeley was not in the room and did not return until just before Ogi's room. Berkeley pronounced her intention of going up to bed.

"That was when Wickett took the perfume flask to Mrs. Berkeley's room," he said, "Mr. Berkeley answered coldly. 'Though I did not know at the time what his errand was,' Dundee tried another shot in the dark. 'When you went on into your wife's room, did you notice the perfume flask?'"

"I went no further than the sitting-room," Berkeley answered. Again the trap had sprung. "I was there only five or six minutes, possibly less time."

"What was your errand to your wife's sitting-room, Mr. Berkeley?" Dundee asked quietly. His host's stern, handsome face flushed darkly, but he answered: "I was using my telephone."

"I wanted to make a call and her telephone was the nearest. I tried to reach my lawyer, but there was no answer."

For the third time, but very confidently now, Dundee pretended knowledge he did not possess. "That call to your lawyer was a direct result of your few minutes' talk with Ogi, was it not, Mr. Berkeley?"

"The multimillionaire shrugged and the flush on his face deepened. "I am surprised that Ogi has tattled. She has a very loose tongue, but I can assure you that I was not following her hysterical outbursts. I was not about to consult my lawyer in his professional capacity."

"He has a daughter of Ogi's age, whom he has in the east. After my talk with Ogi, I suddenly made up my mind to send her to this college instead of permitting her to remain at home this winter as her mother had planned. Mrs. Berkeley's idea was that Ogi should be groomed for society."

"I see," Dundee nodded, "thank you very much, Mr. Berkeley. You saw no one when you left Mrs. Berkeley's sitting-room?"

"No one at all. It is likely that Doris went to Mrs. Berkeley's room soon after I left, but I did not see her in the hall as I was returning to the drawing-room."

"One thing more, Mr. Berkeley. I understand that you had agreed to Dundee a beauty parlor venture for Doris."

"That is quite correct," the multimillionaire agreed coldly. "In fact I began a letter to my lawyer Friday before dinner, but I was too upset over another matter to finish it. When Doris told me of her engagement to Arnold, she also confided her ambition to own a beauty shop. I reminded her that capital would be required."

"I admired the girl for her very evident good qualities and particularly for her attitude toward my son. I determined to help her financially, on a strictly business basis, of course. I am a silent partner in a number of small ventures in Hamilton, all of them handled through my lawyer and I believe I should not lose money if I put it into a beauty shop. I might add that Doris had accepted the idea gratefully, on the condition that her fiancé did not object to my being her silent partner."

"Dundee heard him through without interruption. 'I am sorry Doris did not live to benefit by your kindness, Mr. Berkeley.'"

"So am I. . . If you'll pardon me, I'll get back to my bridge game," Berkeley answered stily.

"Half an hour later Wickett was admitted to the lower room. He came bearing a tray of sandwiches and coffee, as well as information which seemed to puzzle him exceedingly. 'I have checked the contents of the fountain, sir,' he said, depositing his tray as far from the parrot's cage as the length of the table allowed. 'Here are the figures, sir, and I can't understand them at all. Mr. Berkeley's fountain was full and less than an ounce of the wood alcohol had been removed from any of the others, except Mrs. Berkeley's. I can swear I filled it full on Friday, sir, but I found less than two ounces in it and it holds five.'"

"That's our secret, Wickett," Dundee warned him.

When the butler had left, the detective locked the door at the foot of the stairs, returned to the tower room and locked its door, then addressed his parrot: "I'm afraid you're in for a long session, my dear Watson!"

Bonnie Dundee had cheerfully endured his kidding from his uncle, Police Commissioner O'Brien, and from his chief, Captain Strawn, because of his use of a parrot as a "Watson," when he felt the need of an audience for his summing up of a case.

"I've tried talking alone to myself, but I feel foolish. Cap'n is an ideal audience, for while he sometimes laughs at me, he can't waste my time by arguing or telling me I'm a fool," he answered stily.

Now, after five hours of sleep, to clear his brain of all speculations and conclusions—worthless now, in the light of his new discoveries, he sat with the bird before him, his thick sheet of type written notes ready for reference. He had been talking steadily for ten minutes, telling the parrot just how and when Doris had died. And Cap'n had listened, head cocked inquiringly, bendy eye bright with interest—or so Dundee chose to believe.

"Now, my dear Watson," that is the crime which you and I must try to solve," he summed up. "But behind that crime lies another, which did not come off. Our primary problem, therefore, is to find the person who plotted Mrs. Berkeley's death by wood alcohol poisoning, but who was forced, by fear to murder Doris Matthews instead. Is that clear?"

"Perfume!" Cap'n croaked suddenly, proud of the new addition to his vocabulary.

"Exactly!" Dundee grinned. "Someone transferred more than two ounces of deadly wood alcohol from the lighter bottle to the bottle of Fleur d'Amour which Seymour Crosby presented to his hostess Friday evening. And was caught in the act by Doris Matthews."

"Perfume!" Cap'n repeated and flapped his wings excitedly.

"Exactly—again!" his master applauded. "Where is the perfume which Mrs. Berkeley's would-be murderer removed from the flask to make way for the wood alcohol? Ogi had wanted about an ounce of the Fleur d'Amour, Mrs. Berkeley knew just how much was left in the bottle, for she took the flask from Ogi herself. Therefore, the would-be murderer had to remove about two and a half ounces of perfume before putting that amount of wood alcohol into the bottle."

"Now, it is not at all likely that the surplus perfume was poured down the drain pipe of Mrs. Berkeley's bathroom basin, for the very good reason that Mrs. Berkeley would have been almost sure to smell it when she came up to bed. Therefore it seems logical

Days of Courtship

Considers Testing
Time for Marriage

Practically Every One of the Catastrophes That Wreck Marriage Could Be Avoided if Men and Women Would Spend Their Courtship in Looking Carefully Over What They Are About to Get

IF YOUNG people would only make the period of courtship a time of serious investigation and study instead of an emotional orgy, they could save themselves a lot of grief and many a trip to the divorce court. For if they only realized it, the interval that elapses between the moment in which a youth and maiden first fall for each other, as the popular phrase goes, and that in which they stand before the altar and sign a life contract is the chance that Fate gives them to save themselves from tying up with the wrong partners. It is their hour of grace.

In it they might find out before it is too late all of the things about each other that are vitally important for them to know, and upon which happiness or misery, the success or failure, of their whole future existence depends. It would seem that even morons would realize the importance of using this golden opportunity to find out something about the kind of individuals with whom they were proposing to spend the next thirty or forty years, but such, curiously enough, is not the case.

Otherwise sane and sensible men and women spend the precious days of courtship in billing and cooing and kissing instead of trying to find out something about the other's real character and disposition, and they are so busy asking each other: "Oose ducky is oot?" and "Is oo really, truly, certain sure that oo never loved before, and that oo will never get tired of 'oose little boy or girl?" that they omit to ask what are the lady's views on getting up and getting breakfast at 7 o'clock in the morning, and what are the man's reactions on the subject of a regular allowance for a wife's own particular behoof and benefit.

Indeed, it is hardly too much to state that the average couple never hold an intelligent conversation from the time they become engaged until after they are married, and then only too often they find that they have nothing to say to each other. After they cease to take their temperatures and discuss the state of their affections, they have exhausted the only topics of mutual interest and are reduced to the sad expedient of quarrelling in order to keep conversation going.

The three things that are at the bottom of the failure of virtually every marriage that goes on the rocks are boredom (or lack of congeniality), or stinginess, or extravagance, for these are the contributing causes that bring about unfaithfulness, endless arguments and quarrels, disgruntlement, resentment that grows into smoldering hate.

Why do men wander from their own firesides? Nine times out of ten because their own heartstones were so dull they could endure them no longer. Their wives were stupid and uninteresting, with a conversational range that reached from the kitchen to the nursery and back again, and so they stepped out in search of livelier company.

Now, to be bored to death is undoubtedly one of the most unpleasant ways of meeting one's latter end, but any man could save himself from this sad fate befalling him if in the days of courtship he paid as much attention to the color of a girl's conversation as he did to the color of her eyes. Surely, it would take no Sherlock Holmes to deduce the fact that if before marriage a girl never read anything, and if she had no interest in anything except the small circle she moved in, and if she could only say I said, and he said, and she said, an intelligent man would get very tired listening to her on the thousand-and-one nights that come along after marriage.

And why do married people quarrel? Simply and solely because their tastes and habits are antagonistic, and because they don't think along the same lines. When husbands and wives complain of each other, it is merely because one wants to do something that the other doesn't like to do. A woman waits that she is neglected and that her husband is a selfish beast because he goes off to play golf on every holiday, but if she likes to play golf and trots along with him, they are as happy and chummy as you please. If both husband and wife like to dance, or to stay at home, or both are highbrows, they get along without a ripple. It is only when one is domestic and the other craves the bright lights, or one likes jazz and the other a symphony orchestra that the fight like cat and dog. And it would be just as easy to find out whether one liked onions on his or her steak before marriage as it is afterward.

And the same rule would hold good about how each reacted to the money question. Why shouldn't a girl shoot a man in the days of courtship about whether he thought a woman should work for her board and clothes or get a pay envelope, and why shouldn't a man ascertain before he undertook to pay for them how many hats a year a girl considered necessary to her happiness. Neither stinginess nor extravagance are secret vices that can be concealed, and any man or woman could save himself or herself from marrying an addict of either if they would only do a little sleuthing.

We speak about the catastrophes that wreck marriage as if they were tragedies that could not be foreseen nor prevented. But that is not true. Virtually every one of them could be avoided if men and women would spend their courtship in looking carefully over what they are about to get.

The First Known Birds

What would the world be like without birds? It seems to me that much of the joy of life would be taken away. During this glorious month of May, birds are singing their songs of love and many are building nests to shelter little ones.

Far, far back in time birds did not exist; but at last there came into the world feathered animals of a strange sort. I have never seen a modern bird with teeth; but the early birds of which I speak had teeth.

The early bird catches the worm, the saying goes. What these early birds caught, it is hard to say, but their diet no doubt included worms and insects.

Modern birds prevent the world from becoming over-run with insects. "Archopteryx," or "Ancient Wing," is the name we call the earliest known kind of birds. Nothing was known about these birds until 1861. In that year, the imprint of a feather was found in a quarry near Solenhofen, Germany. This imprint was carefully studied. A few months later other remains of the bird were found in the same quarry.

From the remains of "Ancient Wing," we know it was about the size of a large pigeon. Its tail was long and narrow. Modern birds have fan-shaped tails, so from its tail alone we know "Ancient Wing" was a queer bird.

Still more queer was the head, which had a beak like a modern bird's. The jaws contained rows of small teeth.

The wings of "Ancient Wing" appear to have been almost like those of modern birds; but at the bend of each wing were claws.

Head of Earliest Known Bird. Note The Teeth. (As Restored by Heilmann.)

Wing had a song of any kind. If he did, we may be sure it would not have sounded so pleasing to us as the songs of modern birds.
